Garrison extradition dismissed

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss. — A Missouri extradition warrant charging Dr. Norman A. Garrison Jr. of Corinth with first-degree murder was dismissed Wednesday in Circuit Court by Judge W. W. Brown.

Extradition of Dr. Garrison had been granted Dec. 4 by Gov. Bill Waller to face a charge of killing his former wife, Lee Ann Garrison, at her stately home in Kennett, Mo., on Sept. 8, 1974.

Attorneys for Dr. Garrison then had asked and was granted a request for a habeas corpus hearing, which opened Monday, to challenge the extradition ruling.

Ed Snyder, a Mississippi assistant attorney general who handled Missouri's case along with Robert Gilder, a special prosecutor hired by the slain woman's family, said Judge Brown's decision will be appealed to the Mississippi Supreme Court.

Judge Brown ruled Wednesday in favor of a defense motion to dismiss the extradition warrant and also passed down a ruling on the hearing, stating:

"Dr. Garrison was on the boat dock at Pick Wick Lake and he was not in the demanding state, the state of Missouri, and this has been established by me based upon the best proof that has been brought to this court, finding that this death occurred between 6:30 and 9:30 a.m. Sept. 8, 1974, and there was no way possible that Dr. Garrison could have been in the state of Missouri at the time the crime took place."

He ordered the doctor released from custody, thus ending a four-month battle by Dr. Garrison on his 33rd birthday.

Dr. Garrison took the stand for the second time in the hearing Wednesday when recalled by his attorneys during rebuttal. The physician again stated to the court that he did not kill his wife ... that he wasn't in the state of Missouri at the time of the crime and reiterated an earlier statement that he did not have her killed.

Judge Brown further stated,

"The governor's extradition warrant, as introduced in this case, is insufficient to constitute a prosecution case for the main reason that at no time has evidence been introduced in this case to show that this man is charged with a crime in the state of Missouri, and I therefore rule in favor of the defense's motion to quash the extradition warrant."

The judge also was critical of Missouri investigators, and noted: "I am amazed that a warrant was issued against this man (Dr. Garrison) at the stage it was issued."

He said he felt Missouri authorities had reasoned along the lives, of "I have got a motive. We'll get the man. Then we'll get the evidence to prove the case!"

Judge Brown said a bloody fingerprint submitted as evidence by Missouri authorities was questionable, since it supposedly had been recovered on the day of the slaying, but was not sent to a crime laboratory for testing until five days later.

The judge said the only reasonable explanation "is that somebody substituted a fingerprint. After that piece of evidence is removed, then the whole case falls into place!"

Dr. Chester Quarles of the University of Missouri at Oxford presented to the court a comparison of the footprint found in the house to nine made by the doctor by using a device to hold his toes apart and the one toe up. The judge said he was convinced by Dr. Quarles' testimony that a footprint entered as evidence was not Dr. Garrison's.

Dr. Quarles told the court that, in his opinion, the doctor could not have made the footprint, noting that the print found was actually one-fourth inch smaller than Dr. Garrison's. The print reportedly was discovered two days after the death at the foot of stairs leading to the second story of Mrs. Garrison's home.

Defense attorneys established that at least 15 people had been up and down the stairs during the time the print lay unnoticed.

Judge Brown made specific note of the fact that handwriting on the back of the fingerprint presented as evidence was in three different inks, and apparently had been written by two or more persons.

Charles H. Baker, Dunklin County prosecuting attorney, and special prosecutor Robert Gilder of Southaven, Miss., sat silently behind ascreen as Dr. Quarles presented foot comparisons. Ed Snyder, representing the Missouri attorney genera's office, watched intently as the comparisons were introduced.

Baker did not take part in any of the questioning during the three-day hearing.

"I think the judge did the only thing he could under the evidence presented," chief defense counsel John B. Farese Sr. of Ashland noted.

After breathing a sigh of relief, Dr. Garrison happily stated, "I feel older ... better ... and a lot wiser."

Dr. Garrison had been free on $25,000 bond throughout the hearing but will not have to make bond for an appeal.

Directors re-elected

The Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation Wednesday night re-elected seven directors for three-year terms at a meeting at city hall.

Burglars ransack schools

CHARLESTON — Three school buildings and the board of education office were broken into sometime Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, according to Police Chief Bob Ritchey.

Vandalism was evident in all the schools, Ritchey said.

A break-in at A. D. Simpson Elementary School on East Tom Brown Street was discovered about 12:50 a.m. Wednesday, by police officer Ben Stampley.

A rock had been thrown through a restroom window to enter the building, where four pacers — used for spelling — and two sets of earphones were taken.

About 1 a.m. Wednesday, police discovered a break-in at Warren E. Hearnes Elementary School on South Street.

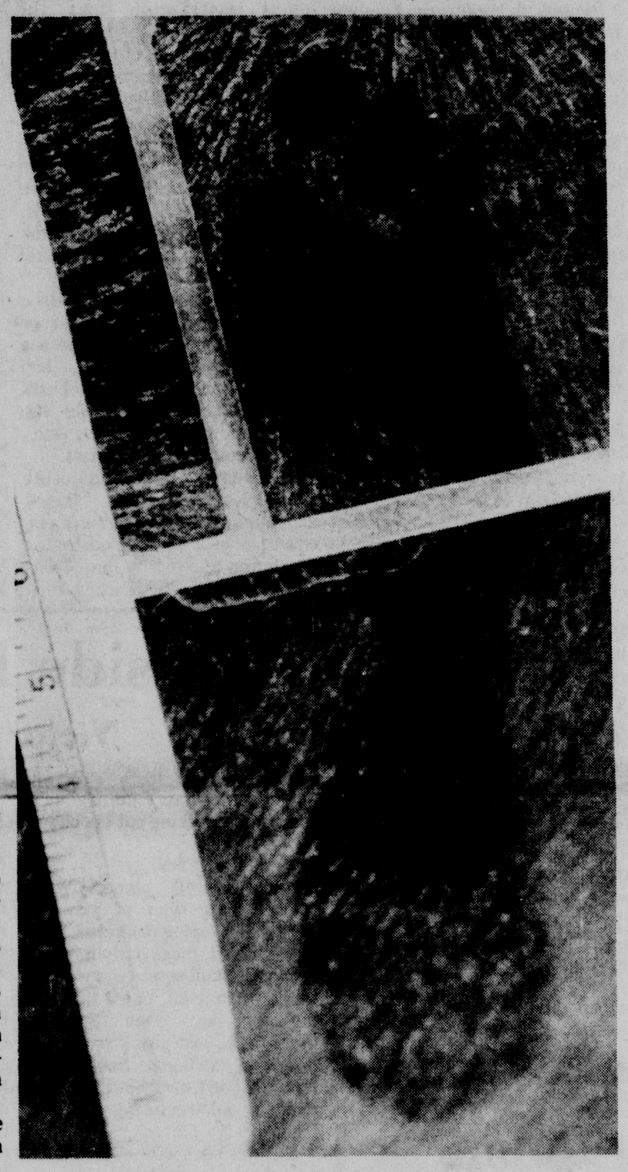

Again a rock was used to knock out a window to gain entry. Approximately $150 was taken from a desk drawer, and a child's watch was also reported missing.

The front door glass at the board of education offices on South Main Street was broken to enter the building.

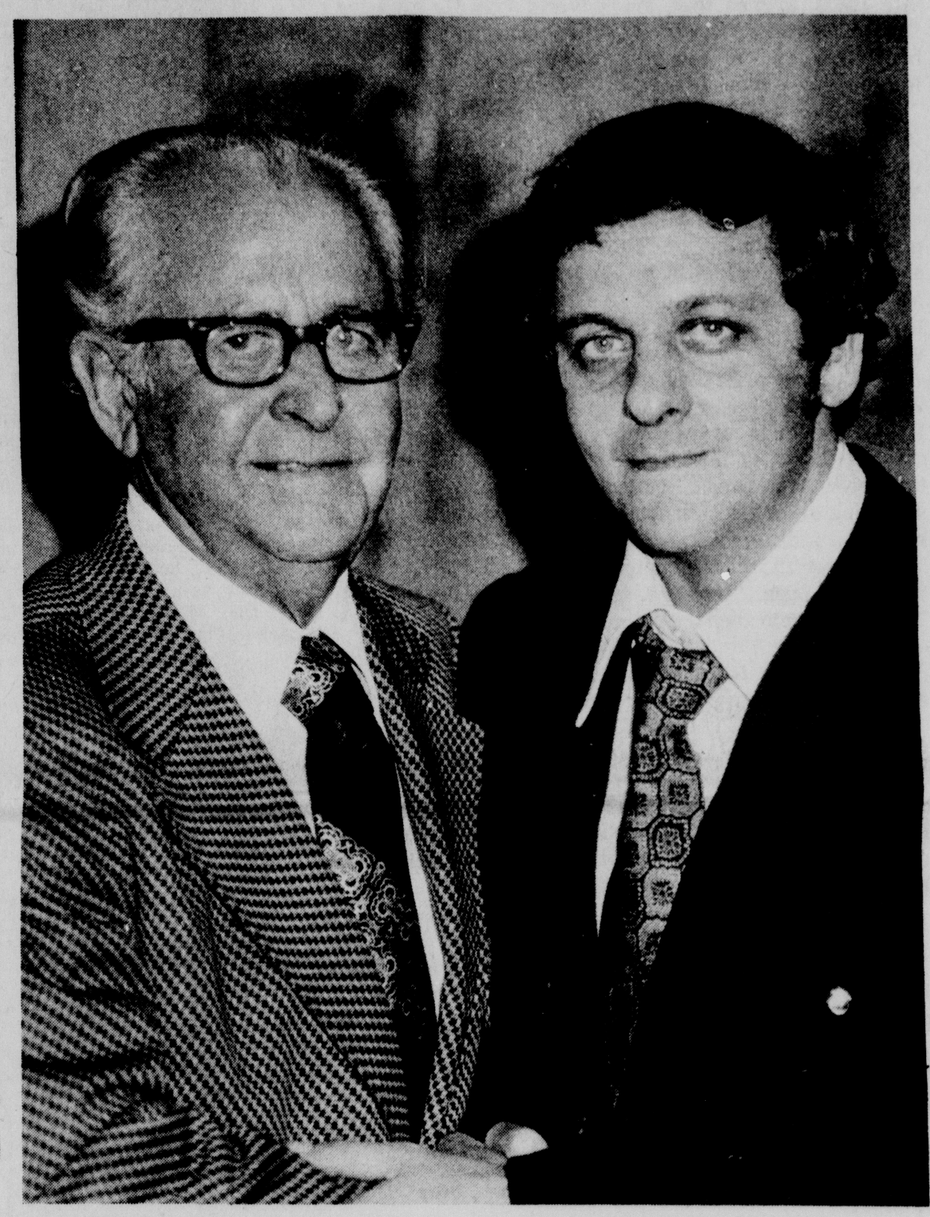

A television set and keys were taken. Ritchey said an attempt to open the office safe failed, but the safe was damaged.

The break-in at the office was discovered about 2:30 a.m., and a short time later officers discovered the junior high building, also on South Main Street, had been entered, apparently with a key taken from the board of education office.

Footprints don't match

Dr. Norman Asa Garrison Jr. of Corinth, Miss. (far right) is embraced by his father, Norman Asa Garrison Sr., also of Corinth, after a Mississippi Judge ruled Wednesday that the doctor could not be extradited to Missouri on a murder charge. Marshall County, Miss. CircuitCourt Judge W. W. Brown ordered Dr. Garrison freed after a three-day Habeas Corpus hearing at Ashland, Miss. on the extradition of Dr. Garrison to Dunklin County, Mo.to face first- degree murder charges for the Sept. 8, 1974 death of his ex-wife, Mrs. Lee Ann Garrison. Missouri authorities presented a blood footprint, (left) alleging that it was taken from the residence of the Garrison Mansion Sept. 10. The center photo depicts Dr. Garrison's footprint. Missouri authorities said the footprint taken from the house was Garrison's, because of a missing toe next to the big toe. However, the Garrison footprint, which showed all five toes clearly, did not match that submitted by the prosecution. (Daily Standard photo)

3 in custody for burglary

Police were holding three men today for a burglary at Vaughan's Fish Market, 105 N. West St., about 10 p.m. Wednesday.

Police said a large quantity of fish, ribs and chicken were taken from the building.

Taken were 50 pounds of fish, including carp, buffalo and white perch, six cartons of ribs and 18 chickens.

Police recovered the fish when they stopped a car containing the three suspects. The ribs and chicken had not be recovered this morning.

The names of the suspects were not released.

Corrrection

BENTON — Sheltered workshops are regulated by the State Board of Education, not the divisions of health and welfare as stated in an article in Tuesday's edition of The Daily Standard about efforts to establish a countywide sheltered workshop in Scott County.

"The cost is small for the results received," Vernon Francis of Essex Route One reported after his successful use recently of the classified advertising section of The Daily Standard.

After placing an advertisement to sell a car, Francis soon received two calls and sold the car immediately. He also reported this was the second time he has used the want ads, and both times the items were sold on the second day the ad appeared.

Man dies from injuries received in shooting incident

HOWARDVILLE — A 46-year-old meatcutter for HACE Supermarket, Baron Lee Duff, who claimed he was shot accidentally early Christmas morning at the Kream Kan drive-in, died Sunday in Missouri Delta Community Hospital at Sikeston.

Duff was shot once in the abdomen with a .22-caliber pistol about 1 a.m. Dec. 25, according to a New Madrid County deputy sheriff who said Duff had told HowardvilleCity Marshal Robert Young the shooting was accidental and he did not want to press charges against anyone.

A deputy sheriff said today that conflicting statements had been made about the shooting and that an investigation is continuing in an effort to determine circumstances.

According to the deputy, he had talked with Duff in the hospital and Duff told him he had asked Bessie Cole, the proprietor of the Kream Kan, for some change. Duff told the officer that the gun was in her purse and that it discharged when she reached inside the purse. The deputy said the gun belonged to Duff.

The Cole woman, according to the deputy, had told officers the gun was in Duff's pants pocket when it discharged. She later said Duff may have been loading the gun when it fired.

Duff was born July 29, 1928 in Mississippi to Eria Duff Lester of Howardville and the late Albert Lester.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his widow, Clemon T. Duff; one son, Baron George Duff of the home; four daughters, Ella MaeWilliams of Columbia, Ellen Rose Taylor of Chicago, Birdie Beatrice West of St. Louis and Centronella Duff of the home; one brother, M. C. Duff of Howardville; two sisters, Vordie Hilliard

Hearing set for Boley in son's death

BENTON — A preliminary hearing for Dwain Boley, 47, of Morley was set for Jan. 14 by Judge Jerry Estes Wednesday in Scott County Magistrate Court. Boley is charged with the fatal shooting of his son, Danny Boley, 26, on Nov. 18.

Boley allegedly shot his son once in the chest with a .22-caliber pistol when he tried to intervene in an argument between Boley and his wife.

The investigation report by Scott County Sheriff's Department said Boley and his wife had been drinking at the Eagles Club in Sikeston and started fighting after they returned home.

Mrs. Boley telephoned her son, who was shot about 2 a.m. shortly after arriving at his parents' home. He died about half an hour later at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Boley's bond was set at $50,000 by Judge Lloyd Briggs in Scott County Magistrate Court on Nov. 19.

Judge Estes, who is the magistrate of Cape Girardeau County, presided in the absence of Judge Lloyd Briggs who is on vacation.

Men accuse each other in accident

Two men riding in a car which overturned several times on North Ingram Street at 3:40 p.m. Wednesday are accusing each other of driving the car, police said today.

One of the men was injured, and the second left the scene on foot.

Three women were injured at noon Wednesday in an accident on East Malone Avenue in front of McDonald's Restaurant.

Police said Robert Horton, Kings Row Motel, 721 N. Main St., and Ronald Miller, 705 Sikes Ave. were in a southbound car which ran off the road on a curve at Hart's Cemetery and traveled 212 feet, overturning several times before coming to rest. Police said the pavement was slick and the car slid into a chuck hole beside the road before overturning.

Police said Miller, who had bruised ribs, was lying on the ground beside the car when officers arrived. He told police Horton had been driving the car and fled on foot back to his motel room.

Police found Horton later, and he claimed Miller had been driving. Horton is on parole and does not have a driver's license, police said.

The two men are brothers-in-law.

The three women were injured when one car ran into the back of another.

Robbie Helen Gregory, 59, of East Prairie, driver of one car, received fractured ribs and a bruised right shoulder. Beverly Ann LaPlant, 28, of the Ramada Parts Apartments, driver of the other car, received a bruise above the left eye. A passenger in the car, Brenda Milligan, 22, of Pecan Grove Acres, received injuries to the left elbow and upper arm.

All three women were treated and released at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Police said both cars were westbound on East Malone Avenue when the LaPlant woman apparently stopped to make a left turn into McDonald's Restaurant and was struck from behind by the Gregory Car.

Lawmakers foresee rocky roads

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Rockier roads ahead between Gov. Christopher S. Bond and the 8th Missouri General Assembly were forecast by both Senate and House leaders as the legislature convened Wednesday.

Leading lawmakers, finding themselves in the regular session Wednesday afternoon almost without a chance to take a breath since the special session ended at noon, also looked ahead this year to greater emphasis on tax reform and consumerism.

"One thing that will characterize this session is the increased antagonism toward the chief executive," Sen. A. Clifford Jones, R-Brentwood, said Wednesday.

The senator said the legislature's hassles with the governor will be intensified by the combination of inflation and recession, which he termed a "political type situation."

But House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, who also foresees possible friction with Bond, attirbuted the problem to Bond himself.

"Unless the governor changes his attitude toward the legislature, I could see how things could worsen," Rabbitt said.

He accused Bond of not communicating directly enough with the legislators and noted he has not been in contact with Bond more than twice in the past six months.

Rabbitt also said the toil of the special session could take their toll on the regular session, but Senate leaders disagreed.

"It's difficult to shift gears," said Rabbitt. He added ha hs not had much time to study the bills to be introduced in the regular session, which might result in the session dragging at first.

However, Senate President Pro-tem William Cason said the senators have done their homework and are all ready to go.

"I would like for this to be known as the session of the taxpayer," he proclaimed.

He said he is supporting bills to increase the personal deduction allowed for state income tax and provide tax relief for the elderly.

Rabbit said consumerism will be a theme of the new session. He said proof of that is the unusual demand from representative this year wishing to serve on the House Consumer Protection Committee.

The House speaker also forecast this session will be remembered for passing the Equal Rights Amendment, which he said has gained new hope by the influx of new representatives supporting it.

WORLD WAR III IS HERE

Football buffs know what happens when a hard-charging 200-pound fullback crashes into a stationary 200-pound linebacker. The linebacker comes out second best.

Project that familiar scene onto a global field, with the Soviet Union and the United States pitted against each other, and what you have is not a game. It is, in the words of at least one distinguished analyst, "World War III." Take a guess which superpower is carrying the football.

"My thesis is that we have been in World War III for the past 25 years, and that the long-range Soviet goal is to win it without a nuclear exchange," writes Sir Robert Thompson in a new book, Peace is Not at Hand. The author adds that Russia's goal "requires that eventually the Russians should force a stretegic surrender by the United States by undermining American will and purpose, or by maneuvering the United States into an untenable global situation — or by some of both."

Thompson, a British military expert who served as an advisor to the U.S. on Southeast Asian affairs during the late 1960s, argues that, since World War II, America's "grand strategy" has been defensive. Soviet strategy has been offensive, "motivated by an expansionist communist ideology."

Ironically, while this country continues to pay homage to its own rosy interpretation of "detente," the USSR repeatedly has affirmed that, to it, the term simply means a new form of conflict. Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev, for example, said this in a 1972 speech: "While pressing for peaceful coexistence, we realize that successes in no way signify the possibility of weakening the ideological struggle. On the contrary, we should be prepared for an intensification of this struggle between the two social systems."

Thompson warns that, quite aside from the huge conventional and strategic arms buildup by the USSR, Russia's willingness to provide full diplomatic and logistic support in its allies' wars has gained it credibility throughout the world. On the other hand, America's wavering among its friends in the wake of Vietnam is "a recipe for failure," argues the author.

"Involvement can lead to either success or failure," says Thompson. "Non-involvement leads only to failure. The answer is to keep the options open."

The "open window" bill to protect taxpayers by Rep. Richard J. DeCoster is much needed and I hope it will pass. It is designed to prevent the ovvertaxation that occurs when rising valuations produce more revenue than local budgets call for, and local governments take windfalls, instead of reducing tax rates commensurately.

Our studies through the years have shown this overtaxation to be widespread. The extent of it was reemphasized by the field research we conducted last summer.

The bill is in harmony with the accepted processes of public budgeting. It has two basic parts.

First, it would require that local governments give appropriate notice and hold a public hearing before they formally set their tax rates. This should help prevent local governments from taking windfalls without the public being aware of it. It would give citizens a direct input into the decision-making process.

Another part of the bill would require monitoring of the tax ratesetting process by the state auditor. Local governments would be required to transmit to the auditor their tax rates and the information on which they were calculated. The auditor would be charged to publicly notify local governments of deficiencies in their tax rate-setting process and also to make public their responses to this notification.

Rather than to impose sanctions, this legislation requires rate-setting to be conducted under conditions making it possible for governing bodies and local officials to be held publicly accountable. This seems a logical approach.

We believe this legislation could help save taxpayers many millions of tax dollars annually. Yet, it would place no disadvantage on local governments which properly calculate their tax rates.

This legislation is timely because a new law, effective this year, requires property to be assessed at one third of value. The State Tax Commission estimates that property in 109 counties is assessed below that level; in many, substantially below.

PHONY UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES

Those government unemployment statistics announced each month make the nation's jobless situation seem much worse than it actually is.

Although it is true that unemployment has increased in recent weeks the situation still isn't as serious as a lot of gloom and doom proponents would have you believe. The misleading jobless statistics are even prompting many politicians to give up the battle against inflation before it even begins.

Congress and the administration seem committed to a course of spending about $8 billion in inflationary tax dollars that are likely to cause m ore problems than they solve in the unemployment area.

Most people think the unemployment figures represent only those full-time, primary earners who have lost their jobs through no fault of their own. That's the way unemployment is reported in many other nations. England, for example, reports about 2.7 per cent unemployed. If the United States used the same reporting system, our unemployment rate would be less than 1 per cent of the labor force instead of 6 per cent, says an unemployment expert, industrialist-professor Raymond S. Livingston of Florida.

The U.S. Department of Labor has changed the way it calculates unemployment. It uses bloated figures to make the unemployment situation look much worse. It simply is not true that there are 6 million people out of work that can't find jobs.

Those highly misleading government statistics for November showing 6 million people out of work ought to be examined. Of this amount, 1.8 million are teen-agers who have returned to school and are not major breadwinners. The figure also includes 1.5 million women, many of whom are housewives listed as unemployed although they are not seriously looking for a full time job. Another 1.2 million listed as unemployed at strictly part time workers.

All but seven per cent of thos elisted as unemployed have found another job within 26 weeks, while the average period of unemployment for all of the jobless in the nation is less than 10 weeks.

The job market is highly fluid in the United States and there are always many people out of work at any given time. But that doesn't mean they are desperae. The vast majority of them could get another job but are merely in the process of looking for another job.

Few people realize that the majority of the people listed as unemployed didn't lose their job because of layoffs but because they quit voluntarily in order to look for and find another job in a few weeks.

Only a few weeks ago the so-called hard core unemployed in the United States was only 382,000 persons — a far cry from the misleading 6 million figure that produces the panic of the welfare state proponents in washington.

It is true that there have been layoffs recently in some major industries, including the auto industry. But many of these auto workers are receiving company financed compensation that provides 95 per cent of their normal wages even though they are not working.

Anyone looking at the help wanted ads in newspapers in major and small cities throughout the nation will realize that there are millions of available jobs going begging.

The Department of Labor changed the way it counts the unemployed. But that has not drawn the publicity it should have and some comparisons have even been made with figures in the depression when unemployment was figured a different way.

Perhaps another set of figures announced last month from the Department of Labor deserves attention.

The Department announced that payroll employment is up almost one-half million people in November, 1974, compared with the same month of 1973. In November, 1974, there were 78,368,000 persons on payrolls, compared with 77,915,000 in the same month in 1973. This is in spite of the auto slump, the construction drag and the nationwide coal strike in 1974.

The proposed hiring of hundreds of thousands of persons on public service government employment jobs will fuel inflation and disrupt the private job market, especially the part time jobs paying the minimum wage. Who would want a job paying the minimum wage when the government will hand out easy government jobs paying $3.50 to $5 an hour?

In making these points we do not wish to minimize the unemployment that has increased in recent weeks. It is a problem, but the government unemployment statistics ought to be put into perspective before pressing the panic button. (Jefferson City News Tribune)

MISSOURI PENAL SYSTEM INDICTED

From The Gasconade County Republican

Events of the past two weeks not only candidly demonstrate that Gov. C. S. Bond's chief of the Department of Corrections, George Camp, is too liberal in his theories of penal responsibility, but also indicate that other officials in the department as well as the Parole Board are derelict in their duties.

These same events also sustain Rep. William E.Blackwell, D-Hermann, in his previous charges against Camp and the penal system.

Blackwell has been attempting to secure a full-scale legislative investigation of Camp's methods ... and by doing so drew the wrath of the Bond Administration. Blackwell maintains that Camp is turning Missouri prisons into "country clubs."

Last week, a convict with a lengthy record was on some kind of prison pass to participate in a St. Louis panel on drug problems.

The confict, togehter with another convict, escaped custody and the one was involved in a traffic accident while fleeing from police. A woman was killed in the crash and her husband died several days later.

This convict should not have been on any kind of "pass" from the prison. Not only is this an indictment of Camp and his policies, but a subsequent statement by the prison warden in Jefferson City also indicates that other officials, in addition to Camp, should be given their walking papers.

The prison warden, in reply to a charge that the particular convict should not have been allowed out of the prison because of a record of assaults on police, noted that assaults on police were no different than assaults on any citizen.

People in the law enforcement fraternity should find this a rather absurd statement coming from someone charged with operating a prison for criminals!

This sorry episode was followed just a few days later by the killing of an ex-convict during an armed robbery of a St. Louis firm.

The ex-convict- who was given four life sentences in 1956 and 1957 for the murder of a St. Louis policeman an d three robberies - was shot by a dentist while fleeing the robbery scene. A citizen finally accomplished what the law — thanks to the Supreme Court — could not do!

This instance is likewise an indictment of the parole board. Here is a man who was sentenced to four life terms in prison for murder and robbery, back on the streets committing crimes courtesy of the Missouri Parole Board. Eighteen years doesn't sound like four life sentences.

The sorry record of the Department of Corrections and of its superintendent, George Camp and other penal officials, is strong evidence that the Missouri Legislature should "correct" some of the inadequacies in that department.

Gov. Bond can help return some sanity to the penal system by firing Camp and the warden of the Jefferson City prison, and by replacing the do-gooders who apparently have transformed the parole system into a penal farce.

By allowing Camp to continue victimizing the public welfare via liberal penal policies, Gov. Bond is forfeiting any hopes of re-election.

The people of Missouri are disgusted with the Department of Corrections, and the Parole Board. If the governor does not change this sad situation, the people may well change governors in 1976!

MEDIA HASN'T PROBED ROCKY'S GENEROSITY

Everybody remembers what happened when it was revealed that Richard Nixon paid only minimal income taxes his first two years in the White House.

Before that, a similar though much smaller storm was raised over the fact that California Gov. Ronald Reagan legally avoided paying any income tax at all one year.

The defeat of Ohio Sen. Howard Metzenbaum in last spring's Democratic primary was attributed in large part to the like revelation about his finances.

So how come, asks the conservative publication, Human Events, how come nobody blinked an eye when vice president-designate Nelson Rockefeller testified to congressional investigators that in 1970 he earned more than $2.4 million and paid not one cent in federal taxes!

"The media's double standard was again apparent," it said. "Nelson Rockefeller got away with something that nearly caused a journalistic lynching for (the) others."

Allright — accepting the implicit assumption that the American people have no opinions and are incapable of indignation except that which is manufactured for them by the all-powerful "media" — how come?

One reason might be that the name Rockefeller has been associated for so long with such vast, almost incomprehensible, wealth that people just don't think that anyone with that name would be capable of common venality.

Another might be that Nelson Rockefeller, unlike the governor of California or its most famous recent full-time resident, has never fed the people a lot of bushwa about the Puritan pieties, the need for sacrifice, etc., etc., whilst insulating his own nest.

Still another reason might be that Rockefeller's largest deduction in 1970 — $1.2 million, or 50 per cent of his income, the maximum allowed by law — was for charity and philanthropy.

That's $1.2 million compared to the few hundred donated by Mr. Nixon that year. That's $1.2 million given to the country, not half a million (roughly Nixon's deduction for his vice presidential papers) taken from the country.

Former Nixon speechwriter William Safire, now a New York Times columnist, lamented that Rockefeller "gave half his income to charities of his choice rather than pay taxxes that would have gone to programs of the peoples choice."

Like aid to South Vietnam? Aid to Turkey?

Crocodile tears. Even if Nelson Rockefeller hadn't given a cent to charity in 1970, he would not have paid anywhere near $1.2 million in federal income tax. As it is, he paid $500 million in state and local and other nonincome taxes.

There may well be a need for some sort of minimum income tax payment applicable to the superrich, or the super-loopholed. After all, not all of us can afford to give away half our incomes. Yet one suspects that many people would rather see a Rockefeller spreading around $1.2 million than some faceless boondoggler in Washington.

These aren't very good answers to the question, but they're the best we can do short of admitting that it is all a plot by the media.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Files Clear CIA

By JACK ANDERSON
Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency's secret files on American citizens, according to sources who have had access to them, show no evidence of widespread domestic surveillance by the CIA.

Our sources confirm The New York Times report that the CIA has the names of at least 10,000 American citizens in its files. But most of the names were furnished by domestic agencies as part of an intelligence exchange that was established after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The largest batch of names -- a computerized printout listing 9,000 antiwar agitators, new leftists and ghetto militants -- was turned over to the CIA in 1969 by the Justice Department's civil disturbance unit.

The unit chief, James Devine, arranged to deliver the names to the CI A's antiterrorist expert, Richard Ober, who had made a study of radical movements overseas.

From the 9,000 names, the CIA picked out those who had received training or had participated in demonstratoins overseas. This information was relayed back to the Justice Department for its guidance in dealing with domestic demonstrations.

The CIA prepared reports, for example, on Black Panthers who had received guerrilla training in Libya and demolition instruction in North Korea. The CIA also identified Arab students in America who had alleged ties with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

But only rarely, the files show, did the CIA keep these individuals under surveillance in the United States. Sometimes, the CIA would tail a suspect to the United Sates and continue the surveillance for a few days until the watch could be turned over to the FBI . But few Americans have been spied upon by the CI A at home, our sources swear.

"The CIA simply doesn't have the manpower to keep 10,000 Americans under surveillance," said one source.

We also checked various law enforcement agencies to find out what kind of information they had received from the CIA about American citizens. The word from each agency was that CIA messages invariably contain a legitimate overseas angle.

Declared one official emphatically: "There is no program, no project, no policy set up to permit the CIA to conduct surveillance of citizens in the United States."

At the same time, our sources acknowledge there were several "gray areas," where the CIA has crossed into domestic operations. The CIA, for example, may develop informants, defectors and double agents overseas who refuse to deal with anyone else after their arrival in the United States.

The CIA also gets involved in international counterintelligence, which has no geographical boundaries. It sometimes becomes necessary for the CIA to continue following a lead or checking a suspect in the United States. The CIA also has been brought into the intelligence operations against foreign embassies and consulates in the United States.

Nor is it any secret that the CIA keeps track of both pro-Castro and anti-Castro Cuban nationals in this country, as part of its watch on Cuba. And the law gives the CIA authority to handle its own security, includingbackground checks on American citizens.

The CIA files, of course, contain derogatory information about wholly innocent citizens. For years, we have reported how government agencies traffic in dossiers which are loaded with idle gossip about American citizens. As far back as Nov. 20, 1972, we reported that the CIA was involved in this exchange.

We quoted from one CIA memo, which offered the latest gossip on Eartha Kitt's sex life in Paris. This information was provided to the Secret Service, which had started an investigation of the entertainer after she had embarrassed Lady Bird Johnson by asking a pointed question about the Vietnam War at a Jan. 18, 1968, White House luncheon.

Quite obviously, neither the CIA nor the Secret Service has any business prying into Eartha Kitt's private life.

The exchange of derogatory information between agencies increased after the Warren Commission, investigating President Kennedy's assassination, complained abut the lack of collaboration.

Thereafter, the agencies began to alert one another to intelligence that might be of interest and to request information that might be helpful in their investigations. Information about people was cranked into computers, which could produce detailed life histories at the push of a button.

The FBI sent a liaison man, Sam Papich, to work with the CIA. He worked long hours, straightening out differences over jurisdiction and operational approaches.

This cooperation was abruptly cancelled by the late FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover because of a silly dispute over a missing Czechoslovakian defector. The defector-turned-professor, Thomas Riha, disappeared from the University of Colorado on March 15, 1969. An FBI agent reported to the CIA that he had gone to Montreal to pout after a domestic squabble. Hoover demanded to know the identity of the CIA's FBI informant; the CIA refused to reveal it; so Hoover shut off the liaison. Not until several months after his death was the cooperation resumed.

Footnote: Riha never turned up. Subsequently, a woman named Gayla Tannenbaum was arrested for his alleged murder and committed to Pueblo State Hospital as mentally incompetent.

Behind closed doors: Ford and his shadowy labor-management committee working out tax cut

WASHINGTON — One especially well placed White House chap, who is privy to what's developing behind all those closed doors, those daily morning economic skull sessions and in the Oval Office itself, put it this way the other day: "Don't attribute this to me, just say you've been 'sourcing' and you've been told there will be a one-shot tax cut for virtually all the people and corporations."

This has been worked out where it counts -- in the President's secretive White Houe Labor-Management Committee. This is far more significant than even a straightaway decision by President Ford himself.

The President can be vetoeed by Congress. But the Labor-Management Committee is almost veto-proof. On it are all the top leaders of organized labor. There can't be a more powerful combination than George Meany (and his deputy, AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer Lane Kirkland), Teamster leader Frank Fitzsimmons, auto union chief Leonard Woodcock, steel labor president Abe Abel and the coal diggers' head Arnold Miller, who as the apprentice in the tough combine is distinguishing himself.

In all they have an almost unbeatable congressional lobby.

On the industrialist side are a banker, metal management executives and spokesmen for auto manufacturers, oil producers, construction, and Reginald Jones, chief executive officer of General Electric.

Many of these men on both sides have fought each other fiercely. The Seafarers Paul Hall, maritime (union) trades leader, has just been in a knockdown fight with the oil industry over passage of the Energy Transportation Security Act. Yet he sits at the same planning table with Rawleigh Warner, Jr., chairman of the Mobil Oil Company.

Big steel's Heath Larry confers with Arnold Miller whose coal diggers crippled the industry's pits for almost six weeks recently. Woodcock works smoothlywith Richard Gerstenberg, who apparently speaks for the auto industry. These industrialists and their colleagues also have powerful congressional lobbies.

So their "virtual" agreement on a tax cut, their fraternal give and take which has put the demands of both sides now within "agreement" range, means that their lobbies won't confront each other on the Hill. There won't be a stand-off with labor and management neutralizing each other in the Congress.

This means, unless there is some snag, the newly liberal Congress, with its younge men (one new representative is 25 years old) and extremists, won't smash chances for a reasonable tax cut by running wild.

It's the neatest bit of collective bargaining I've covered. And, of course, it's that chewer-upper of newsmen, Harvard's Dean John Dunlop, who has welded it all. He's the Committee's executive secretary, coordinator, father confessor and elctric prod.

All this is the American counterpart of the Austrian and German coordination and cooperation pattern -- born of the realization that if labor and management don't work together they'll hang separately economically. The British and the Italians have not yet learned this. I doubt any member of the Labor-Management Committee believes the recession will be over before 1976.

The script is much like that of a Broadway musical plot pivoting on a New York Seventh Avenue garment plant. There is the "outside man," Treasury Secretary William Simon. And there are the two "inside men" who really design and cut the fabric -- President Ford's two most intimate friends, Bill Seidman and Phil Buchen. They need no other titles. So Bill Simon can only sell what's made on the inside. This is a reasoned tax cut. Also the obvious J. Kenneth Galbraithian, Keynesian spending and huge budget deficit. Simon, who has spent some time now talking individually with labor chiefs, is swinging to the anti-recession tactics instead of tightening up to kill the inflation.

Thus, at this minute, the figures show that at least $2 billion will have been spent by fiscal year's end on public jobs and works projects. And $43 billion on additional unemployment insurance and billions more on the "entitleds" -- those who by law are automatically entitled to heavier welfare payments, more food stamps, social security cost of living increases, etc. The budget is edging up to a third of a trillion dollars -- and more.

So it's vital that the new Congress be held in line. If any force can accomplish this, it's the untied front of the lobbies controlled by the men on he Labor-Management Committee.

Thus, after the AFL-CIO's 300 most powerful leaders meett in a rare General Board session Jan. 23, most of them will stay over and buttonhole the Hill. Note that among these 300 men will be the heads of every one of the AFL-CIO's state federations. Usually they can make or break local congressional candidatese. On Feb. 5 the auto union officials will do likewise. Industry lobbies operate more quietly.

It's all so harmonious, George Meany may even permit an industrialist to beat him at golf one of these days.

Most people think the unemployment figures represent only those full-time, primary earners who have lost their jobs through no fault of their own. That's the way unemployment is reported in many other nations. England, for example, reports about 2.7 per cent unemployed. If the United States used the same reporting system, our unemployment rate would be less than 1 per cent of the labor force instead of 6 per cent, says an unemployment expert, industrialist-professor Raymond S. Livingston of Florida.

The U.S. Department of Labor has changed the way it calculates unemployment. It uses bloated figures to make the unemployment situation look much worse. It simply is not true that there are 6 million people out of work that can't find jobs.

Those highly misleading government statistics for November showing 6 million people out of work ought to be examined. Of this amount, 1.8 million are teen-agers who have returned to school and are not major breadwinners. The figure also includes 1.5 million women, many of whom are housewives listed as unemployed although they are not seriously looking for a full time job. Another 1.2 million listed as unemployed at strictly part time workers.

All but seven per cent of thos elisted as unemployed have found another job within 26 weeks, while the average period of unemployment for all of the jobless in the nation is less than 10 weeks.

The job market is highly fluid in the United States and there are always many people out of work at any given time. But that doesn't mean they are desperae. The vast majority of them could get another job but are merely in the process of looking for another job.

Few people realize that the majority of the people listed as unemployed didn't lose their job because of layoffs but because they quit voluntarily in order to look for and find another job in a few weeks.

Only a few weeks ago the so-called hard core unemployed in the United States was only 382,000 persons — a far cry from the misleading 6 million figure that produces the panic of the welfare state proponents in washington.

It is true that there have been layoffs recently in some major industries, including the auto industry. But many of these auto workers are receiving company financed compensation that provides 95 per cent of their normal wages even though they are not working.

Anyone looking at the help wanted ads in newspapers in major and small cities throughout the nation will realize that there are millions of available jobs going begging.

The Department of Labor changed the way it counts the unemployed. But that has not drawn the publicity it should have and some comparisons have even been made with figures in the depression when unemployment was figured a different way.

Perhaps another set of figures announced last month from the Department of Labor deserves attention.

The Department announced that payroll employment is up almost one-half million people in November, 1974, compared with the same month of 1973. In November, 1974, there were 78,368,000 persons on payrolls, compared with 77,915,000 in the same month in 1973. This is in spite of the auto slump, the construction drag and the nationwide coal strike in 1974.

The proposed hiring of hundreds of thousands of persons on public service government employment jobs will fuel inflation and disrupt the private job market, especially the part time jobs paying the minimum wage. Who would want a job paying the minimum wage when the government will hand out easy government jobs paying $3.50 to $5 an hour?

In making these points we do not wish to minimize the unemployment that has increased in recent weeks. It is a problem, but the government unemployment statistics ought to be put into perspective before pressing the panic button. (Jefferson City News Tribune)

MISSOURI PENAL SYSTEM INDICTED

From The Gasconade County Republican

Events of the past two weeks not only candidly demonstrate that Gov. C. S. Bond's chief of the Department of Corrections, George Camp, is too liberal in his theories of penal responsibility, but also indicate that other officials in the department as well as the Parole Board are derelict in their duties.

These same events also sustain Rep. William E.Blackwell, D-Hermann, in his previous charges against Camp and the penal system.

Blackwell has been attempting to secure a full-scale legislative investigation of Camp's methods ... and by doing so drew the wrath of the Bond Administration. Blackwell maintains that Camp is turning Missouri prisons into "country clubs."

Last week, a convict with a lengthy record was on some kind of prison pass to participate in a St. Louis panel on drug problems.

The confict, togehter with another convict, escaped custody and the one was involved in a traffic accident while fleeing from police. A woman was killed in the crash and her husband died several days later.

This convict should not have been on any kind of "pass" from the prison. Not only is this an indictment of Camp and his policies, but a subsequent statement by the prison warden in Jefferson City also indicates that other officials, in addition to Camp, should be given their walking papers.

The prison warden, in reply to a charge that the particular convict should not have been allowed out of the prison because of a record of assaults on police, noted that assaults on police were no different than assaults on any citizen.

People in the law enforcement fraternity should find this a rather absurd statement coming from someone charged with operating a prison for criminals!

This sorry episode was followed just a few days later by the killing of an ex-convict during an armed robbery of a St. Louis firm.

The ex-convict- who was given four life sentences in 1956 and 1957 for the murder of a St. Louis policeman an d three robberies - was shot by a dentist while fleeing the robbery scene. A citizen finally accomplished what the law — thanks to the Supreme Court — could not do!

This instance is likewise an indictment of the parole board. Here is a man who was sentenced to four life terms in prison for murder and robbery, back on the streets committing crimes courtesy of the Missouri Parole Board. Eighteen years doesn't sound like four life sentences.

The sorry record of the Department of Corrections and of its superintendent, George Camp and other penal officials, is strong evidence that the Missouri Legislature should "correct" some of the inadequacies in that department.

Gov. Bond can help return some sanity to the penal system by firing Camp and the warden of the Jefferson City prison, and by replacing the do-gooders who apparently have transformed the parole system into a penal farce.

By allowing Camp to continue victimizing the public welfare via liberal penal policies, Gov. Bond is forfeiting any hopes of re-election.

The people of Missouri are disgusted with the Department of Corrections, and the Parole Board. If the governor does not change this sad situation, the people may well change governors in 1976!

MEDIA HASN'T PROBED ROCKY'S GENEROSITY

Everybody remembers what happened when it was revealed that Richard Nixon paid only minimal income taxes his first two years in the White House.

Before that, a similar though much smaller storm was raised over the fact that California Gov. Ronald Reagan legally avoided paying any income tax at all one year.

The defeat of Ohio Sen. Howard Metzenbaum in last spring's Democratic primary was attributed in large part to the like revelation about his finances.

So how come, asks the conservative publication, Human Events, how come nobody blinked an eye when vice president-designate Nelson Rockefeller testified to congressional investigators that in 1970 he earned more than $2.4 million and paid not one cent in federal taxes!

"The media's double standard was again apparent," it said. "Nelson Rockefeller got away with something that nearly caused a journalistic lynching for (the) others."

Allright — accepting the implicit assumption that the American people have no opinions and are incapable of indignation except that which is manufactured for them by the all-powerful "media" — how come?

One reason might be that the name Rockefeller has been associated for so long with such vast, almost incomprehensible, wealth that people just don't think that anyone with that name would be capable of common venality.

Another might be that Nelson Rockefeller, unlike the governor of California or its most famous recent full-time resident, has never fed the people a lot of bushwa about the Puritan pieties, the need for sacrifice, etc., etc., whilst insulating his own nest.

Still another reason might be that Rockefeller's largest deduction in 1970 — $1.2 million, or 50 per cent of his income, the maximum allowed by law — was for charity and philanthropy.

That's $1.2 million compared to the few hundred donated by Mr. Nixon that year. That's $1.2 million given to the country, not half a million (roughly Nixon's deduction for his vice presidential papers) taken from the country.

Former Nixon speechwriter William Safire, now a New York Times columnist, lamented that Rockefeller "gave half his income to charities of his choice rather than pay taxxes that would have gone to programs of the peoples choice."

Like aid to South Vietnam? Aid to Turkey?

Crocodile tears. Even if Nelson Rockefeller hadn't given a cent to charity in 1970, he would not have paid anywhere near $1.2 million in federal income tax. As it is, he paid $500 million in state and local and other nonincome taxes.

There may well be a need for some sort of minimum income tax payment applicable to the superrich, or the super-loopholed. After all, not all of us can afford tc give away half our incomes. Yet one suspects that many people would rather see a Rockefeller spreading around $1.2 million than some faceless boondoggler in Washington.

These aren't very good answers to the question, but they're the best we can do short of admitting that it is all a plot by the media.

Have you heard about the Japanese student who was puzzled about American institutions of higher learning? No? Well, here is what he wrote to his father back home:

"An American university is a vast athletic institution where, fortunately, some studies are maintained for the benefit of the feeble-bodied."

Then there was the abandoned tugboat who felt really low after discovering her mother was a tramp and her father was a ferry.

A fellow was walking along the street one day with two small boys, each wailing loudly. A neighbor yelled to him, asking what was the matter. "What's wrong with the whole world," replied the man. "I've got three pieces of candy and each boy wants two!"

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Files Clear CIA

By JACK ANDERSON
with
Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency's secret files on American citizens, according to sources who have had access to them, show no evidence of widespread domestic surveillance by the CIA.

Our sources confirm The New York Times report that the CIA has the names of at least 10,000 American citizens in its files. But most of the names were furnished by domestic agencies as part of an intelligence exchange that was established after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The largest batch of names -- a computerized printout listing 9,000 antiwar agitators, new leftists and ghetto militants -- was turned over to the CIA in 1969 by the Justice Department's civil disturbance unit.

The unit chief, James Devine, arranged to deliver the names to the CI A's antiterrorist expert, Richard Ober, who had made a study of radical movements overseas.

From the 9,000 names, the CIA picked out those who had received training or had participated in demonstratoins overseas. This information was relayed back to the Justice Department for its guidance in dealing with domestic demonstrations.

The CIA prepared reports, for example, on Black Panthers who had received guerrilla training in Libya and demolition instruction in North Korea. The CIA also identified Arab students in America who had alleged ties with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

But only rarely, the files show, did the CIA keep these individuals under surveillance in the United States. Sometimes, the CIA would tail a suspect to the United Sates and continue the surveillance for a few days until the watch could be turned over to the FBI . But few Americans have been spied upon by the CI A at home, our sources swear.

"The CIA simply doesn't have the manpower to keep 10,000 Americans under surveillance," said one source.

We also checked various law enforcement agencies to find out what kind of information they had received from the CIA about American citizens. The word from each agency was that CIA messages invariably contain a legitimate overseas angle.

Declared one official emphatically: "There is no program, no project, no policy set up to permit the CIA to conduct surveillance of citizens in the United States."

At the same time, our sources acknowledge there were several "gray areas," where the CIA has crossed into domestic operations. The CIA, for example, may develop informants, defectors and double agents overseas who refuse to deal with anyone else after their arrival in the United States.

The CIA also gets involved in international counterintelligence, which has no geographical boundaries. It sometimes becomes necessary for the CIA to continue following a lead or checking a suspect in the United States. The CIA also has been brought into the intelligence operations against foreign embassies and consulates in the United States.

Nor is it any secret that the CIA keeps track of both pro-Castro and anti-Castro Cuban nationals in this country, as part of its watch on Cuba. And the law gives the CIA authority to handle its own security, includingbackground checks on American citizens.

The CIA files, of course, contain derogatory information about wholly innocent citizens. For years, we have reported how government agencies traffic in dossiers which are loaded with idle gossip about American citizens. As far back as Nov. 20, 1972, we reported that the CIA was involved in this exchange.

We quoted from one CIA memo, which offered the latest gossip on Eartha Kitt's sex life in Paris. This information was provided to the Secret Service, which had started an investigation of the entertainer after she had embarrassed Lady Bird Johnson by asking a pointed question about the Vietnam War at a Jan. 18, 1968, White House luncheon.

Quite obviously, neither the CIA nor the Secret Service has any business prying into Eartha Kitt's private life.

The exchange of derogatory information between agencies increased after the Warren Commission, investigating President Kennedy's assassination, complained abut the lack of collaboration.

Thereafter, the agencies began to alert one another to intelligence that might be of interest and to request information that might be helpful in their investigations. Information about people was cranked into computers, which could produce detailed life histories at the push of a button.

The FBI sent a liaison man, Sam Papich, to work with the CIA. He worked long hours, straightening out differences over jurisdiction and operational approaches.

This cooperation was abruptly cancelled by the late FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover because of a silly dispute over a missing Czechoslovakian defector. The defector-turned-professor, Thomas Riha, disappeared from the University of Colorado on March 15, 1969. An FBI agent reported to the CIA that he had gone to Montreal to pout after a domestic squabble. Hoover demanded to know the identity of the CIA's FBI informant; the CIA refused to reveal it; so Hoover shut off the liaison. Not until several months after his death was the cooperation resumed.

Footnote: Riha never turned up. Subsequently, a woman named Gayla Tannenbaum was arrested for his alleged murder and committed to Pueblo State Hospital as mentally incompetent.

Behind closed doors: Ford and his shadowy labor-management committee working out tax cut

WASHINGTON — One especially well placed White House chap, who is privy to what's developing behind all those closed doors, those daily morning economic skull sessions and in the Oval Office itself, put it this way the other day: "Don't attribute this to me, just say you've been 'sourcing' and you've been told there will be a one-shot tax cut for virtually all the people and corporations."

This has been worked out where it counts -- in the President's secretive White Houe Labor-Management Committee. This is far more significant than even a straightaway decision by President Ford himself.

The President can be vetoeed by Congress. But the Labor-Management Committee is almost veto-proof. On it are all the top leaders of organized labor. There can't be a more powerful combination than George Meany (and his deputy, AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer Lane Kirkland), Teamster leader Frank Fitzsimmons, auto union chief Leonard Woodcock, steel labor president Abe Abel and the coal diggers' head Arnold Miller, who as the apprentice in the tough combine is distinguishing himself.

In all they have an almost unbeatable congressional lobby.

On the industrialist side are a banker, metal management executives and spokesmen for auto manufacturers, oil producers, construction, and Reginald Jones, chief executive officer of General Electric.

Many of these men on both sides have fought each other fiercely. The Seafarers Paul Hall, maritime (union) trades leader, has just been in a knockdown fight with the oil industry over passage of the Energy Transportation Security Act. Yet he sits at the same planning table with Rawleigh Warner, Jr., chairman of the Mobil Oil Company.

Big steel's Heath Larry confers with Arnold Miller whose coal diggers crippled the industry's pits for almost six weeks recently. Woodcock works smoothlywith Richard Gerstenberg, who apparently speaks for the auto industry. These industrialists and their colleagues also have powerful congressional lobbies.

So their "virtual" agreement on a tax cut, their fraternal give and take which has put the demands of both sides now within "agreement" range, means that their lobbies won't confront each other on the Hill. There won't be a stand-off with labor and management neutralizing each other in the Congress.

This means, unless there is some snag, the newly liberal Congress, with its younge men (one new representative is 25 years old) and extremists, won't smash chances for a reasonable tax cut by running wild.

It's the neatest bit of collective bargaining I've covered. And, of course, it's that chewer-upper of newsmen, Harvard's Dean John Dunlop, who has welded it all. He's the Committee's executive secretary, coordinator, father confessor and elctric prod.

All this is the American counterpart of the Austrian and German coordination and cooperation pattern -- born of the realization that if labor and management don't work together they'll hang separately economically. The British and the Italians have not yet learned this. I doubt any member of the Labor-Management Committee believes the recession will be over before 1976.

The script is much like that of a Broadway musical plot pivoting on a New York Seventh Avenue garment plant. There is the "outside man," Treasury Secretary William Simon. And there are the two "inside men" who really design and cut the fabric -- President Ford's two most intimate friends, Bill Seidman and Phil Buchen. They need no other titles. So Bill Simon can only sell what's made on the inside. This is a reasoned tax cut. Also the obvious J. Kenneth Galbraithian, Keynesian spending and huge budget deficit. Simon, who has spent some time now talking individually with labor chiefs, is swinging to the anti-recession tactics instead of tightening up to kill the inflation.

Thus, at this minute, the figures show that at least $2 billion will have been spent by fiscal year's end on public jobs and works projects. And $43 billion on additional unemployment insurance and billions more on the "entitleds" -- those who by law are automatically entitled to heavier welfare payments, more food stamps, social security cost of living increases, etc. The budget is edging up to a third of a trillion dollars -- and more.

So it's vital that the new Congress be held in line. If any force can accomplish this, it's the untied front of the lobbies controlled by the men on he Labor-Management Committee.

Thus, after the AFL-CIO's 300 most powerful leaders meett in a rare General Board session Jan. 23, most of them will stay over and buttonhole the Hill. Note that among these 300 men will be the heads of every one of the AFL-CIO's state federations. Usually they can make or break local congressional candidatese. On Feb. 5 the auto union officials will do likewise. Industry lobbies operate more quietly.

It's all so harmonious, George Meany may even permit an industrialist to beat him at golf one of these days.

Ruby-studded gold pins have been awarded to 14 nutrition education assistants for five years of service in the University of Missouri's Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—The names of the six Appointees to the new Missouri Elections Commission were submitted to the state Senate today by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

The Senate, opeining only the second day of the regular session, moved quickly a day earlier to enable the six men to gain confirmation and begin work.

Senate President pro tem William J. Cason, in one of the first official acts of the new session, established a temporary gubernatorial appointments committee to consider the confirmation of the six commission members beginning monday.

Agreeing with comments of Secretary of State James Krikpatrick, the Clinton Democrat said it was imperative that the commission begin work as soon as possible because a number of provisions in the state's new campaign financing law cannot be complied with until there is action by the pannel.

The commission, which must approve manuals and forms for the reporting requirements of the new law, was named by Bond Tuesday from a group of 18 Supreme Court nominees. But the commission can take no action until its members receive Senate approval.

Named to the panel were Republicans Edmund Bohl Jr. of Harrisonville, Samuel B. Murphy of St. Louis County and D. W. Gilmore of Kansas City and Democrats Frank E. Nutt of Kirkwood, Robert Karsch of Columbia and David Blanton of Sikeston.

Kirkpatrick, the only statwide elected official to oppose passage of the new law in a referendum Nov. 5, urged lawmakers tolchange some provisions in the statute that many election officials say will drive qualified candidates out of political races.

Pins awarded for 5 years of service

PORTAGEVILLE — Fourteen area nutrition education assistants of the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program sponsored by the University of Missouri were given five-year service pins in a special ceremony conducted recently at the Delta Center.

Receiving the ruby-studded gold pins were Viletta Lane of Essex; Doris Peet of Benton; Vyola Grant, Johnnie Mae Davis and Amelia Craven of Charleston; Jewel Franklin of Lilbourn; Tecora Henry of Bell City; Wilzetta Wilson of Wardell; Bonilee Horner of Senath; Sybil Hurley of Portageville; Jewel Medlin of Caruthersville; Carrie Sims of New Madrid; Mary Gunter of Morley; and Nina Hanes of Bloomfield.

The 14 NEAs have been working with familiies with children in the six-county Bootheel area to improve the adequacy of their diets through food production. preservation and storage since the program began in 1969.

Vanduser buys 1941 fire truck from Wardell

VANDUSER — The city has purchased a 1941 model firetruck from the city of Wardell for $2,500, Mayor Elve Johnson said today. The truck was purchased Monday and delivered Wednesday.

Mrs. Johnson said the truck has a 500-gallon capacity water tank, 300 feet of good hose, an engine in good running condition and lights, siren and other equipment also in good shape.

It is presently being housed in a shed in the city, but plans call for a firehouse to be built on the water plant property, with construction to begin soon.

Mrs. Johnson said Bill Partin has been appointed fire chief to head the fire department, which will be a volunteer organization. She added that she expects quite a few volunteers but nobody has been officially signed up yet.

She requests anyone interested in being a volunteer fireman to contact her office or any town board member.

Mrs. Johnson also stated that the trash hauling problem has been straightened out.

She said the city now has an agreement with John Glueck of Vanduser to have trash picked up on a four times per month basis at a cost of $2 a month per household.

Pickups will be made every Monday, unless it rains, in which case the pickup will be postponed until Tuesday.

Part-time help available from schools

Robert Harris of Risco, vocational placement counselor of New Madrid County R-1 Vocational Technical School at Howardville, requests area residents in need of parttime workers to contact counselors for their areas. A list of prospective employes from the five unit high schools has been developed. Counselors for the five units are:

Nita Smotherman of Sikeston, at Matthews High School, 471-3410; Louis Hunt of New Madrid, at New Madrid High School 748-5568; Grace Alexander of Portageville, at Portageville High School, 379-3507; Floyd Shaw of Parma, at Parma High School, 357-4424; Venus Frissell of Benton, at Lilbourn High School, 688-5071.

About 175 students have already signed up for the program, indicating the high interest and availability of parttime help, according to Harris.

Agreeing with comments of Secretary of State James Krikpatrick, the Clinton Democrat said it was imperative that the commission begin work as soon as possible because a number of provisions in the state's new campaign financing law cannot be complied with until there is action by the pannel.

The commission, which must approve manuals and forms for the reporting requirements of the new law, was named by Bond Tuesday from a group of 18 Supreme Court nominees. But the commission can take no action until its members receive Senate approval.

Named to the panel were Republicans Edmund Bohl Jr. of Harrisonville, Samuel B. Murphy of St. Louis County and D. W. Gilmore of Kansas City and Democrats Frank E. Nutt of Kirkwood, Robert Karsch of Columbia and David Blanton of Sikeston.

Kirkpatrick, the only statwide elected official to oppose passage of the new law in a referendum Nov. 5, urged lawmakers tolchange some provisions in the statute that many election officials say will drive qualified candidates out of political races.

Pins awarded for 5 years of service

PORTAGEVILLE — Fourteen area nutrition education assistants of the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program sponsored by the University of Missouri were given five-year service pins in a special ceremony conducted recently at the Delta Center.

Receiving the ruby-studded gold pins were Viletta Lane of Essex; Doris Peet of Benton; Vyola Grant, Johnnie Mae Davis and Amelia Craven of Charleston; Jewel Franklin of Lilbourn; Tecora Henry of Bell City; Wilzetta Wilson of Wardell; Bonilee Horner of Senath; Sybil Hurley of Portageville; Jewel Medlin of Caruthersville; Carrie Sims of New Madrid; Mary Gunter of Morley; and Nina Hanes of Bloomfield.

The 14 NEAs have been working with famiilies with children in the six-county Bootheel area to improve the adequacy of their diets through food production. preservation and storage since the program began in 1969.

Vanduser buys 1941 fire truck from Wardell

VANDUSER — The city has purchased a 1941 model firetruck from the city of Wardell for $2,500, Mayor Elve Johnson said today. The truck was purchased Monday and delivered Wednesday.

Mrs. Johnson said the truck has a 500-gallon capacity water tank, 300 feet of good hose, an engine in good running condition and lights, siren and other equipment also in good shape.

It is presently being housed in a shed in the city, but plans call for a firehouse to be built on the water plant property, with construction to begin soon.

Mrs. Johnson said Bill Partin has been appointed fire chief to head the fire department, which will be a volunteer organization. She added that she expects quite a few volunteers but nobody has been officially signed up yet.

She requests anyone interested in being a volunteer fireman to contact her office or any town board member.

Mrs. Johnson also stated that the trash hauling problem has been straightened out.

She said the city now has an agreement with John Glueck of Vanduser to have trash picked up on a four times per month basis at a cost of $2 a month per household.

Pickups will be made every Monday, unless it rains, in which case the pickup will be postponed until Tuesday.

Part-time help available from schools

Robert Harris of Risco, vocational placement counselor of New Madrid County R-1 Vocational Technical School at Howardville, requests area residents in need of parttime workers to contact counselors for their areas. A list of prospective employes from the five unit high schools has been developed. Counselors for the five units are:

Nita Smotherman of Sikeston, at Matthews High School, 471-3410; Louis Hunt of New Madrid, at New Madrid High School 748-5568; Grace Alexander of Portageville, at Portageville High School, 379-3507; Floyd Shaw of Parma, at Parma High School, 357-4424; Venus Frissell of Benton, at Lilbourn High School, 688-5071.

About 175 students have already signed up for the program, indicating the high interest and availability of parttime help, according to Harris.

Reader recommends no sex to stop husband from eating

Dear Ann Landers: I have some practical advice to the woman whose husband is eating himself to death. Yours was fine--as far as it went. Here's mine:

(1) If you have never worked and have no marketable skills, go back to school NOW, while he is around and still able to pay for it.

(2) If you DO have marketable skills, get them in shape if you are a little rusty. You'll probably want (or need) to go back to work.

(3) Make sure he has all his insurance policies paid up and ask him to tell you all you will need to know if he should keel over suddenly from a heart attack. Most women are in a state of abysmal ignorance when it comes to their husband's financial affairs. They must then depend on attorneys who discover the estate was left in an awful mess. Sometimes there isn't even a valid will. This can mean real trouble as well as horrendous financial losses.

(4) If you don't already know, ask your husband to show you how to change a fuse, how to start the lawn mower, and how to handle balky plumbing. These jobs are very simple--when you know how.

(5) No sex. You don't want to be responsible for his heart attack. And in your situation, you need another baby like you need a case of smallpox.

If you follow my advice you will probably damage his male ego, but you might shock him into taking off those killer pounds. You might also give him additional years so he can enjoy his golden wedding anniversary--and his grandchildren.--Farsighted In Florida

Dear Farsighted: Thanks for an excellent letter. I go along with everything you said--except Point Five.

Sex will not bring on a heart attack--even in the obese. Some men are stricken during sex, but the attack was due anyway.

A denial of intimacy to a fat husband is a punitive act and will not encourage him to lose weight. It will merely provide him with a perfect excuse to seek satisfaction elsewhere.

Dear Ann Landers: I am sure you've already heard more than you want to from women who don't iron their bedsheets and towels, but please, can I have the last word. .

In your answer you said, "We iron ours." Anybody with half a working brain knows that a family of two doesn't need more than one person to do the ironing. It came through plenty clear that you have a maid. What you SHOULD have said was, she irons YOURS. I'm signing myself--Reading Between The Lines

Dear Friend: You might be reading "between the lines" but you are obviously missing the whole column from time to time. I straightened out that nightmare several days ago--put on sackcloth and ashes and confessed that I hadn't done any ironing for 25 years, which was why my answer was a bummer. I also offered to eat a generous slice of crow. Do you think now I should offer to drink a cup of hemlock. . Please rush your answer. I'm waiting.

Confidential to Want To Stand On My Own Two Feet: It's awfully hard to do when one foot is in your mouth. Try thinking before you speak.

Worst dressed list revealed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Helen Reddy heads the list of 10 worst dressed women of 1974.

Mr. Blackwell, the designer who has been making the selections annually for 15 years, also unveiled Tuesday his list of the 10 best dressed women of the year.

"When I think someone looks rotten, it doesn't mean they don't have a good soul or that they aren't great entertainers," the designer said of his choice of Miss Reddy for the dubious distinction.

Mr. Blackwell picked actress Elizabeth Taylor as the worst of the worst dressed in the 15 years he has been making his selections public.

"There's just too many yards of flesh with too few inches of fabric," he said of Miss Taylor.

On the designer's top 10 of the worst dressed were Miss Reddy; Princess Elizabeth of Yugoslavia, fiancee of actor Richard Burton; Fanne Foxe, stripper friend of Rep. Wilbur Mills; Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., described as dressing for the 1940s; Cher Bono, who Mr. Blackwell said looks like a "Hawaiian bar mitzvah"; singer Charo, described as "Carmen Miranda with cleavage"; the Pointer sisters; Raquel Welch; Karen Valentine, and Sonia Rykiel, the first fashion designer to make the list.

Mr. Blackwell's best dressed list includes actresses Ann-Margret, Faye Dunaway and Natalie Wood; Rose Kennedy; Princess Grace of Monaco, and Mrs. Ronald Reagan, wife of the former California governor.

Woman hosts church social

RISCO-Miss Marie Fortner hosted a party Saturday night for members of the young people's Sunday School class of First Baptist Church.

Entertainment included a time of musical fun with guitars, auto harp and singing, followed by games.

Refreshments were served to Elmer Bond, David Yarbrough, Elton Bates, Debbie Blough, Phyllis Hon, Nancy Cummins, Barbara McNeely, Keith Davidson and Danny Stone of Risco and Allen Ward of Gideon.

Miss McRaven marries in a candlelight ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockholt

NEW MADRID — Miss Debrah Kay McRaven and John David Rockholt were united in marriage Dec. 21 at Immaculate Conception Catholic Church. The Rev. S. W. Bauer officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Al McRaven of Jonesboro, Ark., and Mrs. Dorothy McRaven of Memphis, Tenn., and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips Sr. of New Madrid. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Evelyn Rockholt of Greenville, S. C.

Large vases of white gladioli and a spiral candelabrum flanked each side of the main and side altars. The aisles were decorated with lighted tapers and clusters of white chrysanthemums, baby's breath and large ribbon bows.

Mrs. Michael Allgier was organist, and Mrs. Michael Andrews sang, "It Seems I've Always Loved You", "Sunrise, Sunset", "Our Father", "One Hand, One Heart" and "For All We Know":

After the mothers of the bridal couple and the bride's grandmother were seated, the organist played "More". During the processional of the attendants, the organist played "A Time For Us".

As the bride was escorted to the altar by her grandfather, the organist played the "Theme from Love Story". Following the nuptial mass, the wedding march from "Sound of Music" was played.

The bride chose a formal gown in a combination of imported Chantilly lace and satin organza. Scalloped lace sprinkled with tiny pearls edged the high neckline of the all-lace bodice. The sheer, full, bishop leeves ended with deep lace cuffs, and the back of the gown was closed with traditional bridal buttons. A wide scalloped-edged lace flounce bordered the hemline of the softly gathered organza skirt and the long lace-trimmed train.

She wore a double chapel-length veil and a bouffant veil edged with wide matching lace with a blusher attached. They were held secure with a re-embroidered lace Camelot cap encrusted with pearls.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kathleen Phillips Brune of Cape Girardeau and Linda Phillips of New Madrid as maid of honor. They wore gowns of sapphire blue. The long sleeves were slit from the shoulder to wrist. The slits were edged in ivory ruffled lace and tied at intervals with velvet bows. The V-necked bodices were shirred between the V-point and the apex of the upswept waist. The gowns featured A-line skirts. They wore Camelot caps attached to shoulder-length veils.

Bridesmaids were Holly Beam of Louisville, Ky., Mrs. Mary Katherine Eddyof Elsberry and Mara Jack Allen of New Madrid. Junior bridesmaid was Laurie Phillips.

The bridesmaids wore gowns identical to the ones worn by the maid and matron of honor but wore sprigs of baby's breath in their hair. The junior bridesmaid wore a velvet gown of a lighter shade of blue.

William Beckman Hugur Jr. of Asheville, N.C., was best man. Groomsmen were Bud DeLisle III, Edwin, Mark and Richard Phillips and Bud DeLisle Jr.

The mother of the bride wore a deep, blue, palazzo suit with a lace jacket and silver accessories. The mother of the groom chose a soft, green, formal gown with a multi-colored jacket and silver accessories. Both wore white orchid corsages.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at New Madrid Country Club. The bride's table was covered with a whie peau de soie cloth overlaid with white net in swags caught with clusters of wedding bells and bows.

A four-tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells and flanked on each side by five-branch silver candelabra centered the table. A silver punch bowl and a silver coffee service were at opposite enes of the table. Touches of the birde's color of deep blue accented the cake and table decorations. Champagne and hors d'oeuvres were served.

The mother of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner Dec. 20 at New Madrid Country Club attended by 35 guests.

After dinner, champagne was served and dancing followed.

Vivian Davis of Greenville, S.C.; Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson and James of Winston-Salem, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison of Dyersburg, Tenn.; Neeley Hughey of Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bill Davis of Union; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ward and Mr. Bradley Brune of Cape Girardeau; Jerry Eddy of Elsberry; Mrs. Randy Bietel of Rock Springs, Wyo.; Harry Howard Riley of Trinidad; and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne DeLisle of Portageville.

The couple took a 10-day honeymoon trip to New York City.

Mr. and Ms. Rockholt are students at University of North Carolina at Asheville, where they will live.

Miss McRaven marries in a candlelight ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockholt

NEW MADRID — Miss Debrah Kay McRaven and John David Rockholt were united in marriage Dec. 21 at Immaculate Conception Catholic Church. The Rev. S. W. Bauer officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Al McRaven of Jonesboro, Ark., and Mrs. Dorothy McRaven of Memphis, Tenn., and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips Sr. of New Madrid. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Evelyn Rockholt of Greenville, S. C.

Large vases of white gladioli and a spiral candelabrum flanked each side of the main and side altars. The aisles were decorated with lighted tapers and clusters of white chrysanthemums, baby's breath and large ribbon bows.

Mrs. Michael Allgier was organist, and Mrs. Michael Andrews sang, "It Seems I've Always Loved You", "Sunrise, Sunset", "Our Father", "One Hand, One Heart" and "For All We Know":

After the mothers of the bridal couple and the bride's grandmother were seated, the organist played "More". During the processional of the attendants, the organist played "A Time For Us".

As the bride was escorted to the altar by her grandfather, the organist played the "Theme from Love Story". Following the nuptial mass, the wedding march from "Sound of Music" was played.

The bride chose a formal gown in a combination of imported Chantilly lace and satin organza. Scalloped lace sprinkled with tiny pearls edged the high neckline of the all-lace bodice. The sheer, full, bishop leeves ended with deep lace cuffs, and the back of the gown was closed with traditional bridal buttons. A wide scalloped-edged lace flounce bordered the hemline of the softly gathered organza skirt and the long lace-trimmed train.

She wore a double chapel-length veil and a bouffant veil edged with wide matching lace with a blusher attached. They were held secure with a re-embroidered lace Camelot cap encrusted with pearls.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kathleen Phillips Brune of Cape Girardeau and Linda Phillips of New Madrid as maid of honor. They wore gowns of sapphire blue. The long sleeves were slit from the shoulder to wrist. The slits were edged in ivory ruffled lace and tied at intervals with velvet bows. The V-necked bodices were shirred between the V-point and the apex of the upswept waist. The gowns featured A-line skirts. They wore Camelot caps attached to shoulder-length veils.

Bridesmaids were Holly Beam of Louisville, Ky., Mrs. Mary Katherine Eddyof Elsberry and Mara Jack Allen of New Madrid. Junior bridesmaid was Laurie Phillips.

The bridesmaids wore gowns identical to the ones worn by the maid and matron of honor but wore sprigs of baby's breath in their hair. The junior bridesmaid wore a velvet gown of a lighter shade of blue.

William Beckman Hugur Jr. of Asheville, N.C., was best man. Groomsmen were Bud DeLisle III, Edwin, Mark and Richard Phillips and Bud DeLisle Jr.

The mother of the bride wore a deep, blue, palazzo suit with a lace jacket and silver accessories. The mother of the groom chose a soft, green, formal gown with a multi-colored jacket and silver accessories. Both wore white orchid corsages.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at New Madrid Country Club. The bride's table was covered with a whie peau de soie cloth overlaid with white net in swags caught with clusters of wedding bells and bows.

A four-tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells and flanked on each side by five-branch silver candelabra centered the table. A silver punch bowl and a silver coffee service were at opposite enes of the table. Touches of the birde's color of deep blue accented the cake and table decorations. Champagne and hors d'oeuvres were served.

The mother of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner Dec. 20 at New Madrid Country Club attended by 35 guests.

After dinner, champagne was served and dancing followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bill Davis of Union; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ward and Bradley Brune of Cape Girardeau; Jerry Eddy of Elsberry; Mrs. Randy Bietel of Rock Springs, Wyo.; Harry Howard Riley of Trinidad; and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne DeLisle of Portageville.

The couple took a 10-day honeymoon trip to New York City.

Mr. and Ms. Rockholt are students at University of North Carolina at Asheville, where they will live.

NCAA to study 'cost-saving'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite its cries of anguish about inflation, the National Collegiate Athletic Association has concluded its 69th annual convention without taking any major steps to cut the rising costs of collegiate athletics.

Discussions in formal meetings and in hotel corridors for the past week have centered on the rising costs in sports but the convention, which ended Wednesday enacted only one measure dealing with inflation — a resolution to study the subject.

Under the resoluhion, the policy-making NCAA Council will convene a meeting by June to examine ways and means of curtailing operating costs through curtailing scholarships, cutting down on the number of coaches and limiting the number of expense-paid visits a high-school athlete can make to a campus.

The convention rejected a major cost-saving item which would have limited athletic scholarships in all sports except football and basketball to tuition and fees.

"Philosophically, this is probably the most unsound piece of legislation ever to go before the NCAA," said Mickey Holmes, commissioner of the Missouri Valley Conference. "This is a new concept, something people aren't used to, but maybe we are being too philosophical instead of being practical."

The convention also rejected proposals that would have prohibited a prospective athlete from making paid visits to more than four schools and would have limited to three the permissible number of in-person, off-campus recguiting contacts with a prospect.

Two other measures aimed at fighting inflation did not even reach ths floor before they were withdrawn by their sponsors. One would have extended the football schedule from 11 to 12 games a year and the other would have returned football to the one-platoon system.

A third measure to extend the basketball season from 26 to 27 games also failed to receive the necessury votes for passage.

The convention delegates adopted a measure to prevent colleges from giving summer jobs to athletes who have not yet entered the school but rejected a proposal to prohibit a university from making arrangements for a loan for them.

The delegates did rule that no university or college representative can make contact with a prospect before the student completes his junior year in high school.

When it comes to poise, you can't beat Frank McGuire's boys.

Under their famous coach, South Carolina's basketball players have usually displayed cool in the face of fire through the seasons.

And Wednesday night, it was the same old story even with a young team.

"South Carolina is a poised basketball team, no doubt about that," noted Virginia Tech Coach Don Devoe after losing an 81-77 decision. "They got themselves in a position to control the tempo. They were super at the free throw line. Overall, they played it smarter, got it where they wanted it and kept it there."

The 16th-ranked Gamecocks lost a 10-point lead late in the game, but hung on persistently to win behind Jack Gilloon.

In other games, fifth-ranked Maryland whipped Duke 83-77; No. 13 Marquette hammered Portland 87-57; 14th-ranked LaSalle turned back Memphis State 93-84 and No. 19 Providence turned back St. Joseph's, Pa., 82-68.

Gilloon hit a jumper with 1:27 left that broke a final tie, then added a driving layup that proved decisive as South Carolina beat Virginia Tech.

The Gamecocks, with Mike Dunleavy scoring 22 points, Gilloon 20 and Alex English 17, shot 50.9 per cent from the floor and hit 23 of 29 at the foul line.

Mo Howard, who missed his first eight shots from the floor, rallied Maryland in the closing two minutes as the Terps beat off underdog Duke. The Blue Devils, playing without high-scoring center Bob Fleischer for 12 minutes, pulled to within 73-71 with 2:15 remaining.

Shooting 62 per cent behind Maurice Ellis, Marquette built a 20-point lead at the half and went on to beat Portland with ease. Ellis wound up with a game-high 26 points.

Joe Bryant scored 34 points to lead La Salle to a hardfought victory over Memphis State. It was La Salle's 11th victory in 12 outings, while Memphis State's record dropped to 10-4.

Bob Cooper scored 25 points and pulled down 12 rebounds as Providence whipped St. Joseph's.

The Friars, boosting their record to 8-3 and breaking a three-game losing string, jumped in front at the start and led 42-35 at the half. St. Joseph's, absorbing its eighth consecutive loss after two opening victories, never was able to cut into the margin after intermission.

Syracuse routed Bowling Green 90-61 as Chri Sease collected 23 points and 11 rebounds. The Orangemen opened an early 16-4 lead and breezed to their eighth victory in 10 games this season. Adrian Dantley scored 38 points, including 14 of 15 from the free throw line, to help Notre Dame beat Davidson 89-73.

Elsewhere, Kent State trimmed Penn State 61-59; St. John's, N.Y., turned back Hofstra 74-50; Washington & Jefferson beat Navy 54-47; West Virginia defeated Massachusetts 89-85; Pitt smashed Youngstown State 88-62 and Pan American beat Arkansas State 89-73.

'Cat' visits New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — Although Catfish Hunter has been welcomed to the big city with open arms, this country slicker from North Carolina is aware that some of those arms can go right for the wallet while others may reach for the throat.

"In 1965 I was scared to go out of my room," Hunter said Wednesday during a whirlwind tour that included an appearance on a national television program, a photographic session at Shea Stadium and interviews with the press at a midtown hotel. "Now, I'm scared to go into my room."

Among other things, Hunter flew into New York, at the Yankees expense, to introduce himself to the members of the press who didn't attend his New Years Eve contract-signing party.

Hunter said he made up his mind to sign with the Yankees the night of Dec. 30. The next morning, Hunter told his wife that she would probably be a Yankee wife as he expected to sign a contract sometime that day in New York.

"Give me a call," she said as he walked out the door.

But Hunter's firm decision had weakened a bit Tuesday night, when he left the details up to the lawyers, who then spent several hours acting like lawyers.

But the lawyers soon ended their fillibuster and Hunter, who said "he would have rather been anywhere else," affixed his Catfish Hunter on the Yankees dotted line.

Hunter wouldn't reveal the money package, saying "that was up to the Yankees" to disclose, but he did say in terms of straight annual salary, he wasn't making as much money "as five or six other pitchers."

Hunter said he would be paid $150,000, including deferred payments, for each of the next five years. Bonuses, insurance policies and lawyers fees enlarge the rest of the package to an estimated more than $3 million.

Hunter, who became a free agent because Oakland owner Charles O. Finley didn't come across with a deferred $50,000 payment, is aware that there are a lot of people in this city who are after a deferred payment of their own — from the Yankees, to Hunter, to them.

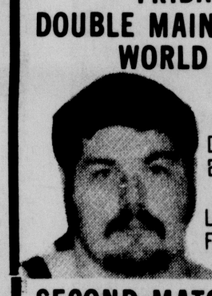

But if Hunter can handle hustlers in his native Hertford, he'll do okay here.

"I haven't bought anything with the money yet," he said. "I'm gonna hold back for awhile. I'll get things cheaper later. Right now they want top dollar from me."

NCAA to study 'cost-saving'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite its cries of anguish about inflation, the National Collegiate Athletic Association has concluded its 69th annual convention without taking any major steps to cut the rising costs of collegiate athletics.

Discussions in formal meetings and in hotel corridors for the past week have centered on the rising costs in sports but the convention, which ended Wednesday enacted only one measure dealing with inflation — a resolution to study the subject.

Under the resoluhion, the policy-making NCAA Council will convene a meeting by June to examine ways and means of curtailing operating costs through curtailing scholarships, cutting down on the number of coaches and limiting the number of expense-paid visits a high-school athlete can make to a campus.

The convention rejected a major cost-saving item which would have limited athletic scholarships in all sports except football and basketball to tuition and fees.

"Philosophically, this is probably the most unsound piece of legislation ever to go before the NCAA," said Mickey Holmes, commissioner of the Missouri Valley Conference. "This is a new concept, something people aren't used to, but maybe we are being too philosophical instead of being practical."

The convention also rejected proposals that would have prohibited a prospective athlete from making paid visits to more than four schools and would have limited to three the permissible number of in-person, off-campus recguiting contacts with a prospect.

Two other measures aimed at fighting inflation did not even reach ths floor before they were withdrawn by their sponsors. One would have extended the football schedule from 11 to 12 games a year and the other would have returned football to the one-platoon system.

A third measure to extend the basketball season from 26 to 27 games also failed to receive the necessury votes for passage.

The convention delegates adopted a measure to prevent colleges from giving summer jobs to athletes who have not yet entered the school but rejected a proposal to prohibit a university from making arrangements for a loan for them.

The delegates did rule that no university or college representative can make contact with a prospect before the student completes his junior year in high school.

LaSalle drops Memphis St.

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

When it comes to poise, you can't beat Frank McGuire's boys.

Under their famous coach, South Carolina's basketball players have usually displayed cool in the face of fire through the seasons.

And Wednesday night, it was the same old story even with a young team.

"South Carolina is a poised basketball team, no doubt about that," noted Virginia Tech Coach Don Devoe after losing an 81-77 decision. "They got themselves in a position to control the tempo. They were super at the free throw line. Overall, they played it smarter, got it where they wanted it and kept it there."

The 16th-ranked Gamecocks lost a 10-point lead late in the game, but hung on persistently to win behind Jack Gilloon.

In other games, fifth-ranked Maryland whipped Duke 83-77; No. 13 Marquette hammered Portland 87-57; 14th-ranked LaSalle turned back Memphis State 93-84 and No. 19 Providence turned back St. Joseph's, Pa., 82-68.

Gilloon hit a jumper with 1:27 left that broke a final tie, then added a driving layup that proved decisive as South Carolina beat Virginia Tech.

The Gamecocks, with Mike Dunleavy scoring 22 points, Gilloon 20 and Alex English 17, shot 50.9 per cent from the floor and hit 23 of 29 at the foul line.

Mo Howard, who missed his first eight shots from the floor, rallied Maryland in the closing two minutes as the Terps beat off underdog Duke. The Blue Devils, playing without high-scoring center Bob Fleischer for 12 minutes, pulled to within 73-71 with 2:15 remaining.

Shooting 62 per cent behind Maurice Ellis, Marquette built a 20-point lead at the half and went on to beat Portland with ease. Ellis wound up with a game-high 26 points.

Joe Bryant scored 34 points to lead La Salle to a hardfought victory over Memphis State. It was La Salle's 11th victory in 12 outings, while Memphis State's record dropped to 10-4.

Bob Cooper scored 25 points and pulled down 12 rebounds as Providence whipped St. Joseph's.

The Friars, boosting their record to 8-3 and breaking a three-game losing string, jumped in front at the start and led 42-35 at the half. St. Joseph's, absorbing its eighth consecutive loss after two opening victories, never was able to cut into the margin after intermission.

Syracuse routed Bowling Green 90-61 as Chri Sease collected 23 points and 11 rebounds. The Orangemen opened an early 16-4 lead and breezed to their eighth victory in 10 games this season. Adrian Dantley scored 38 points, including 14 of 15 from the free throw line, to help Notre Dame beat Davidson 89-73.

Elsewhere, Kent State trimmed Penn State 61-59; St. John's, N.Y., turned back Hofstra 74-50; Washington & Jefferson beat Navy 54-47; West Virginia defeated Massachusetts 89-85; Pitt smashed Youngstown State 88-62 and Pan American beat Arkansas State 89-73.

Mustangs win 11th

North Pemiscot gunned down Southland 66-40 to run its season's record to 11-1. A four-man double-figure scoring barrage gave the Mustangs the win with Richard Hursey's 15 markers leading the way. Bill Dement and Rick Richardson each had 10 for the losing Rebels who dropped to 1 & 8 on the year. NPHS took a 17-11 first quarter lead and were never threatened, allowing Southland to only take the fourth frame 13-10 against their reserves.

Delta C-7 gave Campbell a real clinker in the second game of the night with a 73-31 blasting. The Chargers had a 34-12 advantage by half-time and didn't need another point to win the ballgame as the Camels coudln't find the twin-figure mark until the fourth quarter. Carey Guyton paced the Chargers with 14, while Jack McFerron netted 8 for the losing Camels.

First round action continues again tonight in the tournament with two more games on tap.

Indians, Cubs win at PHS

PUXICO — First round play in the Puxico Junior Varsity basketball Tournament here Wednesday night found the host team ill-mannered as the Indians pasted Leopold 69-48. Puxico outbombed the Wildcats from the field 33-17 but saved Leopold further embarrassment by giving them the charity stripe 14-3. A 41-25 halftime lead was all Puxico needed to uphold their number three ranking in the tournament, coasting in from there for the victory. Randy Campbell's 20 points were high for Puxico, although Leopold's Kevin Beal took game honors with 23.

A defensive struggle marked the second game of the tournament as Bell City walked off with a 45-35 win over Woodland of Lutesville. The JV Cubs waltzed into a first quarter lead of 10-5 but couldn't increase it by halftime still up by only five at 23-18. Woodland cut the lead to three in the third period at 29-26 before the Cubs put it away with a 16-9 final frame. Sol Byrd led the winners with 11. Frank Ledbetter paced Woodland with 11.

Two more games are on tap tonight in the Tournament as Twin Rivers meets Advance in the opener with Bell City and Puxxico tangling in the nightcap.

Vikings prepair for Super Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Has Coach Bud Grant created another "issue," another smokescreen to divert attention from the mounting pressures of a Super Bowl game, another way of psyching up his Minnesota Vikings? It looks that way. It appears he's found his new, improved version of "sparrows in the showers," and this time the sparrows seem to be roosting on quarterback Fran Tarkenton's valuable right arm.

Last year, when Super Bowl week was threatened with being enveloped by a mammoth yawn, Grant came up with an issue, what he called the Vikings's less-than-satisfactory practice facilities. Eventually, the whole thing was characterized by Grant's throwaway line about sparrows.

This week, too, was being underwhelmed by the ritualistic pregame practices and news conferences as the Vikings and Pittsburgh Steelers prepared for Super Bowl IX. Only briefly did something newsworthy surface.

First it was the viral infection that has hospitalized Pittsburgh defensive end Dwight White for four straight nights. Then it was Tarkenton's brief verbal swipe at Oakland's Ken Stabler and Miami's Paul Warfield, who had bad-mouthed both Super Bowl teams. Then it was the calf injury that is likely to keep Minnesota offensive tackle Charles Goodrum out of Sunday's National Football League championship game at Tulane Statium.

Still, there was no focus for anyone's attention. There were no sparrows. On Monday, someone had asked Grant whether he had some more birds hidden up his sleeve — if he had another issue.

"It's gonna be a long week," he replied, "and if we can think of something, we'll let you know."

On Wednesday, he did ... or so it would seem. Halfway through the daily briefing session Grant casually mentioned that Tarkenton had a sore arm, much as someone might suggest that it looks like rain.

Pehaps it was merely another throwaway line, merely an observation, but probably not. Grant, like all pro football coaches and clearly more than most, is a tactician, a calculating man, not given to the idle observation, the off-handed remark.

Whatever it was, it worked. The balloon of boredom was burst. Attention was focused. Here, clearly, was an issue to be dealt with.

And Grant was ready to deal with it. "Everytime he gets a sore arm, he has a great day," he said, perhaps trying ever-so-cleverly to throw the Steelers ever-so-slightly off guard. "It's a good omen for us," Grant said.

Stabler named MVP

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Quarterback Ken Stabler of the Oakland Raiders was named the National Football League's Most Valuable Player for the 1974 season by The Associated Press today. 4

Stabler, who earlier this week was named the Offensive Player of the Year, also heads the All-Pro team announced Wednesday.

A left-hander who led the NFL with 25 touchdown passes during the regular season, Stabler was an easy winner in the AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters who cover the NFL. He received 36 of a possible 78 votes, easily outdistancing Terry Metcalf of the St. Louis Cardinals, who was sscond with 10. Minnesota's Chuck Foreman finished third with five.

Stabler led the Raiders to the American Conference Western Division championship, completing 57.4 per cent of his passes for 1,469 yards. Then he piloted Oakland past Miami in the opening round of the ppayoffs, eliminating the defending champions on a touchdown pass in the final minute of the game. A week later, the Raiders lost the AFC championship game to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

A graduate of the University of Alabama where he learned his football under Bear Bryant, Stabler was the Raiders' second round draft selection in 1968. He was a reserve until 1973, starting only two games.

In 1973, he won the Oakland quarterback job from Daryle Lamonica, taking over in the season's third game and starting the last 11. Under Stabler, the Raiders were 9-2-1 that year and then 12-2 this season.

Joining him in the All-Pro backfield are running backs Otis Armstrong of Denver and O.J. Simpson of Buffalo.

Mustangs win 11th

North Pemiscot gunned down Southland 66-40 to run its season's record to 11-1. A four-man double-figure scoring barrage gave the Mustangs the win with Richard Hursey's 15 markers leading the way. Bill Dement and Rick Richardson each had 10 for the losing Rebels who dropped to 1 & 8 on the year. NPHS took a 17-11 first quarter lead and were never threatened, allowing Southland to only take the fourth frame 13-10 against their reserves.

Delta C-7 gave Campbell a real clinker in the second game of the night with a 73-31 blasting. The Chargers had a 34-12 advantage by half-time and didn't need another point to win the ballgame as the Camels coudln't find the twin-figure mark until the fourth quarter. Carey Guyton paced the Chargers with 14, while Jack McFerron netted 8 for the losing Camels.

First round action continues again tonight in the tournament with two more games on tap.

Scoring:

Indians, Cubs win at PHS

PUXICO — First round play in the Puxico Junior Varsity basketball Tournament here Wednesday night found the host team ill-mannered as the Indians pasted Leopold 69-48. Puxico outbombed the Wildcats from the field 33-17 but saved Leopold further embarrassment by giving them the charity stripe 14-3. A 41-25 halftime lead was all Puxico needed to uphold their number three ranking in the tournament, coasting in from there for the victory. Randy Campbell's 20 points were high for Puxico, although Leopold's Kevin Beal took game honors with 23.

A defensive struggle marked the second game of the tournament as Bell City walked off with a 45-35 win over Woodland of Lutesville. The JV Cubs waltzed into a first quarter lead of 10-5 but couldn't increase it by halftime still up by only five at 23-18. Woodland cut the lead to three in the third period at 29-26 before the Cubs put it away with a 16-9 final frame. Sol Byrd led the winners with 11. Frank Ledbetter paced Woodland with 11.

Two more games are on tap tonight in the Tournament as Twin Rivers meets Advance in the opener with Bell City and Puxxico tangling in the nightcap.

Scoring:

PUXICO (69)

Vikings prepair for Super Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Has Coach Bud Grant created another "issue," another smokescreen to divert attention from the mounting pressures of a Super Bowl game, another way of psyching up his Minnesota Vikings? It looks that way. It appears he's found his new, improved version of "sparrows in the showers," and this time the sparrows seem to be roosting on quarterback Fran Tarkenton's valuable right arm.

Last year, when Super Bowl week was threatened with being enveloped by a mammoth yawn, Grant came up with an issue, what he called the Vikings's less-than-satisfactory practice facilities. Eventually, the whole thing was characterized by Grant's throwaway line about sparrows.

This week, too, was being underwhelmed by the ritualistic pregame practices and news conferences as the Vikings and Pittsburgh Steelers prepared for Super Bowl IX. Only briefly did something newsworthy surface.

First it was the viral infection that has hospitalized Pittsburgh defensive end Dwight White for four straight nights. Then it was Tarkenton's brief verbal swipe at Oakland's Ken Stabler and Miami's Paul Warfield, who had bad-mouthed both Super Bowl teams. Then it was the calf injury that is likely to keep Minnesota offensive tackle Charles Goodrum out of Sunday's National Football League championship game at Tulane Statium.

Still, there was no focus for anyone's attention. There were no sparrows. On Monday, someone had asked Grant whether he had some more birds hidden up his sleeve — if he had another issue.

"It's gonna be a long week," he replied, "and if we can think of something, we'll let you know."

On Wednesday, he did ... or so it would seem. Halfway through the daily briefing session Grant casually mentioned that Tarkenton had a sore arm, much as someone might suggest that it looks like rain.

Pehaps it was merely another throwaway line, merely an observation, but probably not. Grant, like all pro football coaches and clearly more than most, is a tactician, a calculating man, not given to the idle observation, the off-handed remark.

Whatever it was, it worked. The balloon of boredom was burst. Attention was focused. Here, clearly, was an issue to be dealt with.

And Grant was ready to deal with it. "Everytime he gets a sore arm, he has a great day," he said, perhaps trying ever-so-cleverly to throw the Steelers ever-so-slightly off guard. "It's a good omen for us," Grant said.

Stabler named MVP

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Quarterback Ken Stabler of the Oakland Raiders was named the National Football League's Most Valuable Player for the 1974 season by The Associated Press today. 4

Stabler, who earlier this week was named the Offensive Player of the Year, also heads the All-Pro team announced Wednesday.

A left-hander who led the NFL with 25 touchdown passes during the regular season, Stabler was an easy winner in the AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters who cover the NFL. He received 36 of a possible 78 votes, easily outdistancing Terry Metcalf of the St. Louis Cardinals, who was sscond with 10. Minnesota's Chuck Foreman finished third with five.

Stabler led the Raiders to the American Conference Western Division championship, completing 57.4 per cent of his passes for 1,469 yards. Then he piloted Oakland past Miami in the opening round of the ppayoffs, eliminating the defending champions on a touchdown pass in the final minute of the game. A week later, the Raiders lost the AFC championship game to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

A graduate of the University of Alabama where he learned his football under Bear Bryant, Stabler was the Raiders' second round draft selection in 1968. He was a reserve until 1973, starting only two games.

In 1973, he won the Oakland quarterback job from Daryle Lamonica, taking over in the season's third game and starting the last 11. Under Stabler, the Raiders were 9-2-1 that year and then 12-2 this season.

Joining him in the All-Pro backfield are running backs Otis Armstrong of Denver and O.J. Simpson of Buffalo.

Lt. Doyle Price, 23, was reported missing in action while on a flight over Germany from a base in France, the War Department advised his wife, the former Rosemarie Schorle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.. E. F. Schorle, 426 West Front street, Saturday.

Two Sikeston men were killed in action as reported by telegrams to their next of kin by the War Department in the last several days. Pfc. Wm. E. Turner, 30, whose wife and two children reside at 817 Lake street, and who formerly drove a Railway Express truck here, was killed December 26 in Luxembourg, Lt. James L. Kissack, 25, was killed in action also on December 26 in Germany. He was the husband of the former Margaret Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wilson, 111 South street.

Inability to get their share of rebounds off the back board cost the Sikeston High School Bulldogs a close game with Charleston Friday at the high school gymnasium. The final score was 28 to 26 with Coach Lou Bona's charges making a valiant effort in the closing minutes of the game; in fact the drive tied the score at 26 to 26 but one last goal before the horn sounded gave the decision to the Bluejays.

Charleston – The Rev. D. B. Bledsoe has accepted a call to the First Baptist Church here and will assume the pastorate on the 13th.

Poplar Bluff -- A truck and a car sideswiped yesterday and Roy Wheatley, about 60, of Charleston was killed.

Funeral services for Fredolin Joseph Scherer, 62, Route 1, Bell City, who died in the Delta Community Hospital Friday, will be conducted Monday.

Victory was denied Sikeston for the sixth straight game Friday at Jackson as the Bulldogs dropped a 56-46 cage decision to Bogey Harrison's Indians.

Charleston – Funeral services for Mrs. Frances Mary Cain, 77, a resident of Mississippi County the past 55 years, were held this afternoon.

Paris, Mo. -- Funeral services for H. J. (Jack) Blanton, 85, noted country editor who once was the subject of a four-page picture essay by Norman Rockwell in the Saturday Evening Post, will be held Tuesday. Blanton died of a heart attack at his home Saturday, shortly after finishing his weekly editorial column. He had been seriously ill the past few months.

McGill tours with choristers

LIBERTY — Stan McGill, son of Mrs. Verneal McGill of 812 Harvard Road, Sikeston, is a member of the 50-voice concert choir at William Jewell College, has just completed a tour that took it to Louisiana, Florida and Nassau in the Bahamas.

McGill, a tenor, is a senior at William Jewell. His wife Jana, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Moyers of 860 Cambridge Drivve, Sikeston, accompanied him on the tour.

The choir, which is directed by Dr. Wesley L. Forbis, began the tour Jan. 2 in Metairie, La., then went to Miami Beach, Fla., for two performances before going on to Nassau to perform Tuesday night at the international Rotary Club convention.

The concert choir has been in existence on the William Jewell campus for 19 years and has traveled nearly 80,000 miles while singing more than 500 concerts.

The choir has performed extensively throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, Europe and the Middle East.

Membership in the choir includes students from such varied fields as pre-medical, history, political science, education, speech and drama, religion, social work and pre-law. The students, chosen by audition, receive no academic credit for choir.

Concerts include classical and sacred music, folk songs, Broadway hits and spirituals.

Paris, Mo. -- Funeral services for H. J. (Jack) Blanton, 85, noted country editor who once was the subject of a four-page picture essay by Norman Rockwell in the Saturday Evening Post, will be held Tuesday. Blanton died of a heart attack at his home Saturday, shortly after finishing his weekly editorial column. He had been seriously ill the past few months.

McGill tours with choristers

LIBERTY — Stan McGill, son of Mrs. Verneal McGill of 812 Harvard Road, Sikeston, is a member of the 50-voice concert choir at William Jewell College, has just completed a tour that took it to Louisiana, Florida and Nassau in the Bahamas.

McGill, a tenor, is a senior at William Jewell. His wife Jana, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Moyers of 860 Cambridge Drivve, Sikeston, accompanied him on the tour.

The choir, which is directed by Dr. Wesley L. Forbis, began the tour Jan. 2 in Metairie, La., then went to Miami Beach, Fla., for two performances before going on to Nassau to perform Tuesday night at the international Rotary Club convention.

The concert choir has been in existence on the William Jewell campus for 19 years and has traveled nearly 80,000 miles while singing more than 500 concerts.

The choir has performed extensively throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, Europe and the Middle East.

Membership in the choir includes students from such varied fields as pre-medical, history, political science, education, speech and drama, religion, social work and pre-law. The students, chosen by audition, receive no academic credit for choir.

Concerts include classical and sacred music, folk songs, Broadway hits and spirituals.

Today in U. S. History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Jan. 9, the ninth day of 1975. There are 356 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1945, during the Pacific War, American forces invaded the Japanese-held island of Luzon in the Philippines.

On this date —

In 1719, France declared war on Spain.

In 1788, Connecticut became the fifth state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

In 1861, Mississippi seceded from the Union.

In 1919, Grand Duchess Charlotte ascended the throne in Luxembourg.

In 1942, Japanese reinforcements were pouring into the Philippines at the beginning of the Pacific War.

In 1969, it was disclosed that the jobless rate in the U.S. in 1968 had dropped to just above three and one-half per cent — the lowest unemployment in 15 years.

Ten years ago: It was estimated that more than 500 persons suspected of being rebels had been executed by Congo government forces in Stanleyville in the six weeks since the city was retaken.

Five years ago: Paris officials said France had agreed to sell Mirage military jets to the revolutionary regime in Libya.

One year ago: President Nixon invited leaders of eight countries to a conference in Washington to try to deal with the world energy crisis.

Today's birthdays: Former President Nixon is 62 years old. Singer Joan Baez is 34. The coach of the Green Bay Packers, Bart Starr, is 41.

Thought for today: Ask the young. They know everything. — Chinese proverb.

Spainhower to visit Stoddard groups Tuesday

DEXTER — State Treasurer James I. Spainhower will make several appearances Tuesday before various Stoddard County audiences. Spainhower, who is considered as a potential candidate for governor, will discuss the prospects of proposed legislation in the current session of the legislature.

At noon, Spainhower will meet with local banking, business and real estate persons at a dutch treat luncheon to be held at the Hickory Log restaurant in Dexter. At this meeting, which is open to the public, Spainhower is expected to deal with the usury limit and how other proposed legislation is expected to affect the economy.

After and appearance at Richland High School at Essex in the afternoon, Spainhower will address the 6:15 p.m. Rotary meeting at Harley's Restaurant. The Rotarians will have members of the Kiwanis Club as special guests.

At 7:30 p.m., Spainhower will kick off the new year for the Stoddard County Young Democrats by assessing the results of the November election and discussing prospects for Democrats in 1976.

The Young Democrats, according to Dexter attorney Gary L. Smith,have invited members of the County Democratic Committee,the Stoddard County Women's Democratic Club and other interested Democrats to attend the meeting at the Hickory Log.

MD Week set in city

Mayor Frank Ferrell has proclaimed the week beginning Jan. 14 as Muscular Dystrophy Week.

Funds from the annual appeal of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of American, Inc. include four research programs in Missouri. The crippling disease, muscular dystrophy, and related neuromuscular diseases, strike millions of citizens and hope for these victims comes through research.

Mayor Ferrell urges the Sikeston community to give full support for work of this organization.

Compton installed in lodge position

NEW MADRID — Carroll M. Compton was installed as worshipful master of New Madrid Lodge No. 429 AF&AM for 1975 at a special dinner meeting on Jan. 3 at the Masonic Temple.

Right worshipful Harold C. Smith, 33rd degree Mason; John Siscel, Knights Commander of the Council of Kadosh (KCCH); and Leslie F. Denney, KCCH, all of St. Louis, were the installing officers.

Ron Compton, of St. Louis, a 33rd degree Mason and executive secretary of the Scottish Rite Bodies, Valley of St. Louis, attended and presented his brother Carroll a past master's apron that had belonged to their late uncle. He also gave an address regarding Masonic orders and their status in Missouri.

Also installed were: Allyn E. Haase, senior warden; Billy Young, junior warden; Ben H. Ashley, treasurer; Harold Sloas, secretary; James L. "Pete" Taylor, senior deacon; Kenneth E. Davis, junior deacon; Frank E. Masterson, senior steward; Jack L. Akins, junior steward; Gary L. Clark, marshal; and Elihu Mills, tiler.

Retiring Worshipful Master Walter L. Ivy was presented a past master's jewel.

Gary Clark sang, "How Great Thou Art", accompanied by his sister Teresa, who is the wife of Larry Blunt, a member of Lilbourn Lodge No. 666.

Members of the family of the new worshipful master present and introduced were his wife Dianne and two daughters, Jane Ellen and Lissie Ann Compton.

Right Worshipful W. W. Akins introduced the past masters of the New Madrid lodge and visiting past masters.

Mills, also a past master who was installed as tiler for the 25th consecutive year, was applauded for this accomplishment.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served.

Smoke odor brings firemen

NEW MADRID — Firemen were called at 8 p.m. Wednesday to the H. H. Townsend Jr. home, 1231 Scott St., where the odor of scorched wood and smoke was detected coming from an apparently overheated water heater. No fire was ignited and there was no damage.

Woodbadge training to be offered

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Course director for a woodbadge advanced course for adult scouters will be the Rev. Claude Stone Jr. of Hornersville, according to Waler Hedrick of Sikeston, president of the Southeast Missouri Boy Scout Council.

The Rev. Mr. Stone is minister of the Hornersville United Methodist Church and serves as district chairman of the Seminole District.

Woodbadge training is a highly concentrated advanced course for adult scouters. The week-long course will be held from July 26 through Aug. 2 at Camp Vandeventer at Belleville, Ill.

Eleven scouters from the Southeast Missuri council attended the woodbadge session in 1974, and applications are now being accepted for th 1975 session. Scout leaders who have completed the cornerstone training and the outdoor session conducted by the council training committee are eligible to apply for the woodbadge experience.

Applications may be submitted to training chairmen in the five Districts: Bill Copanas of Cape Girardeau, Duke Perry of Oran, Irven Schlief of Doniphan, Johnny Carter of Steele and Cliff Manloe of Dextrer.

Bond signs usury bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Gov. Christopher S. Bond today signed into law the state's 10 per cent ususry ceiling bill which includes an emergency clause making the law effective immediately.

Noting that he has been told lenders have been waiting in the wings to begin issuing more loans as soon as the bill is signed, the governor said the "real purpose of the bill is to allow people to buy, build or sell a house."

Raising the interest limit on the loans from 8 per cent should not be politically unpopular, he asserted, because loans are hard to come by at that rate.

Anyone who thinks the new 10 per cent limit will harm the consumer, he said, he said. "doesn't understand the money market."

A special session of the legislatire was called to pass the bill.

The bill limits lenders to an additional charge of two points. or 2 per cent of a home loan when it is secured.

Exempted from any interest limit are corporate loans, nonresidential and non-agricultural real estate loans, business loans more than $5,000 secured by bonds or similar collateral.

Interest on small loans more than $500 could be hiked from 8 to 10 per cent.

Urban redevelopment corporations can now pay 10 per cent interest on the bonds they sell instead of the previous 6 per cent.

One other bill signed today by Bond lowers the legal age for males to marry without parental consent from 21 to 18.

During the special session. lawmakers also passed and Bond signed a $10.2 million appropriations bill to make welfare payments through February.

Bond signs usury bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Gov. Christopher S. Bond today signed into law the state's 10 per cent ususry ceiling bill which includes an emergency clause making the law effective immediately.

Noting that he has been told lenders have been waiting in the wings to begin issuing more loans as soon as the bill is signed, the governor said the "real purpose of the bill is to allow people to buy, build or sell a house."

Raising the interest limit on the loans from 8 per cent should not be politically unpopular, he asserted, because loans are hard to come by at that rate.

Anyone who thinks the new 10 per cent limit will harm the consumer, he said, he said. "doesn't understand the money market."

A special session of the legislatire was called to pass the bill.

The bill limits lenders to an additional charge of two points. or 2 per cent of a home loan when it is secured.

Exempted from any interest limit are corporate loans, nonresidential and non-agricultural real estate loans, business loans more than $5,000 secured by bonds or similar collateral.

Interest on small loans more than $500 could be hiked from 8 to 10 per cent.

Urban redevelopment corporations can now pay 10 per cent interest on the bonds they sell instead of the previous 6 per cent.

One other bill signed today by Bond lowers the legal age for males to marry without parental consent from 21 to 18.

During the special session. lawmakers also passed and Bond signed a $10.2 million appropriations bill to make welfare payments through February.
